Mc Unveils Foreign Policy

NEW YORK (AP) — Democratic presidential nominee George McGovern said today President Nixon's foreign policy is one of "unconscious isolationism" and pledged if elected to supplant it with what he called a new internationalism.

The South Dakota senator said he would as president extend diplomatic recognition to the People's Republic of China, a step Nixon has said is not in prospect in the foreseeable future, despite his own summit diplomacy in Peking.

As always, McGovern vowed to withdraw immediately from the war in Indochina, but the speech he prepared for the City Club of Cleveland was his first detailed account of his foreign policy intentions toward the rest of the world.

McGovern said the United States is isolated from allies and trading partners by "six gun diplomacy and failure to consult," and from the developing nations by attitudes that favor big business there.

"We are isolated from reality by the insistence that tough talk and big Pentagon budgets are somehow synonymous with national manhood," McGovern said.

"I suggest that we must reject this unconscious isolationism in favor of a New Internationalism based not only upon our vital interests, but also upon the kind of nation we can and should be," he said.

McGovern thus sought to take the foreign policy offensive against Republicans who have charged that his proposals for defense cuts, withdrawal from Indochina and U.S. troop reductions in Europe add up to a new isolationism.

"Let us have the defense we need," McGovern said. "But let us not permit the insatiable appetite of our military to replace our good sense, and undermine the prospects for reduction in the balance of nuclear terror."

He said under Nixon "we are becoming a second-rate nation in the terms that will really count in the 1970s," in international economics, and cooperative aid for the developing nations.

McGovern issued his 13-page foreign policy manifesto as he campaigned in New York and Cleveland.

He began it with an appearance before Democratic nationalities groups in New York City, saying it is the Democrats, not Nixon or the Republicans, who have historically encouraged openness in U.S. immigration policies.

McGovern did his vote-hunting Wednesday with a half-dozen speeches in Buffalo and New York City, campaigning among blacks and leaders of organized labor appearing before a Liberal Party dinner in New York that drew more than 1,500 people.

McGovern was joined at the dinner by Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, who described the 1972 choice as one "between the courageous and the corrupt," and by Mayor John V. Lindsay, who said "there's still time to fight" for the Democratic ticket.

McGovern said in Buffalo that his campaign is at "the point where we have to get large amounts of money fast."

The Democratic nominee said to keep radio and television commitments. He did not say how much he needs, but at one point, in a television interview, he described the situation as critical.

He said he did not expect to have to cancel any campaign broadcast time for lack of money. But he did say "we need money to come in and to come in very fast."

McGovern said his foreign policy would "look toward a prudent relaxation of tension with potential adversary powers, such as the Soviet Union and China." He said he would re-establish healthy economic and political relationships with allies and trading partners, and "avoid the kind of reflexive interventionism that has foolishly involved us in the internal political affairs of other countries."

The Democratic nominee said his kind of intervention would be agricultural and technical assistance through international institutions.

McGovern said he welcomed progress made by Nixon in diplomacy with the Soviet Union and with China.

Nixon Answers the Dems

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon today brushed aside George S. McGovern's charges of corruption by his administration, and predicted it would "turn off" the voters.

At his first news conference in five weeks, Nixon also said he would not let the Nov. 7 election dictate an ill-conceived settlement of the Vietnam War. He ruled out a pre-election bombing halt and he said former President Lyndon B. Johnson made a very, very great mistake when he stopped the bombing four years ago.

Standing behind his desk and speaking in tones so low they were difficult to hear, Nixon took note of McGovern's corruption charges and accusations that U.S. policy in Vietnam was "the worst crime since Nazi extermination of the Jews."

"Some of my more partisan supporters have said I should respond in kind," Nixon said.

"But I'm not going to dignify such comments with a reply," McGovern has been hitting daily on the corruption theme this week in campaigning in the East. He sounded it first at the UPI Editors and Publishers Conference in Washington Monday, saying the administration was the most corrupt in the nation's history.

Nixon summoned newsmen to his Oval Office for the 25th news conference since his inauguration almost four years ago. It was the seventh news conference this year. It was not broadcast or telecast.

On the question of taxes, he pledged not to raise taxes next year and said he would go on nationwide radio Saturday to explain his tax policy.

Nixon also promised property tax relief if re-elected.

"There will be no tax increase in 1973," he declared.

Meanwhile, Vice President Spiro T. Agnew stumped the Grain Belt today after telling South Dakotans that their native son, George McGovern, is very popular in "some segments of North Vietnam."

In Omaha, Agnew said McGovern's tax program, by ending breaks on investments and capital gains and boosting inheritance taxes, could "destroy the family farm and rob the farmer of the revenue to make a decent living."

But he said the senator had been so inconsistent—as evidenced by his vote in favor of investment tax credits last year—that "nobody can believe George McGovern" whatever the program.

In South Dakota, Agnew accused McGovern of engaging in a "blatant pork-barreling appeal for home-state votes."

The vice president himself handed local communities $150 million in federal funds while addressing a Republican rally.

The grants were for urban-renewal projects in Rapid City and Sturgis, S.D., communities hit by heavy flooding last June.

The vice president said McGovern is stirring the suspicions of people around the land and relying solely on a campaign of fear and innuendo.

"He doesn't have a plan for America," said Agnew. "He just doesn't have one."

"About all the fractional and truncated plans that he offers seem to do is to make him very popular in some segments of North Vietnam."

Under questioning by newsmen at Omaha, Agnew said "I don't believe Sen. McGovern intentionally is giving comfort to our adversaries. But the net result of his constant cries against U.S. policy . . . can't help but play into the hands of the North Vietnamese for propaganda purposes."

F111's Get Clean Bill of Health, Attack Air Defense Center

SAIGON (AP) — The U.S. Command gave its controversial F111 fighter-bombers a clean bill of health today after six days of tests and sent them on missions over North Vietnam.

The command said only two strikes were flown overnight, although sources reported that most of the nearly 50 swing-wing planes have arrived at Takhli air base in Thailand.

The command reported that the F111s attacked an air defense center one mile south of Dien Bien Phu and a railroad siding on the northwest line between Hanoi and China.

The command acknowledged publicly for the first time that the F111s had been withdrawn from combat after flying only four missions last week during which one of the jets mysteriously vanished with two crewmen aboard.

The Command claimed that several F111 strikes had been scheduled for Tuesday night and Wednesday morning, but were canceled because of severe weather associated with Typhoon Lorna.

The F111s are billed as "all-weather" fighter-bombers and the same day their raids were supposedly canceled, other fighter-bombers without all-weather capabilities, such as F4 Phantoms, logged 120 strikes over North Vietnam, according to the Command's communique.

When asked for an explanation, a spokesman said, "The weather conditions where the F111s would have flown were more severe than in the area where the other aircraft were able to fly."

The F111 has been enveloped in controversy ever since it first entered combat in March 1968. The first six F111s that arrived in the war zone then were grounded several times because of flaws. They flew only 55 missions before they were returned to the United States that same year after two mysteriously vanished and a third crashed from mechanical causes.

The Command reported that Air Force, Navy and Marine fighter-bombers of all types flew more than 150 strikes across North Vietnam Wednesday, about half the average daily number because of bad weather.

More U.S. B52 bombing raids were carried out in the Saigon region. The eight-jet stratofortresses launched 30 strikes to the north, east and south of Saigon, hitting at enemy staging areas and war stockpiles in a new campaign to foil Communist plans for an offensive in the region.

Action across South Vietnam was light and scattered. The Saigon command reported 85 enemy attacks, 63 of them by rockets, mortars and heat-seeking missiles, during the 24-hour period ending at daybreak today.

Meanwhile, three Americans were killed in action last week, the highest toll in five weeks, three died from nonhostile causes, four were wounded and one was missing, the U.S. Command reported today.

Meanwhile, both South and North Vietnamese battlefield deaths fell to their lowest level of the six-month Communist offensive.

The Saigon command reported that 352 South Vietnamese wounded and 60 were missing in action during the seven-day period ending at midnight last Saturday.

It claimed its forces and U.S. air and naval power killed 1,848 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong troops.

The drop in casualties reflected a similar general lull in battlefield action last week.

The allied commands now have reported these total casualties for the war:

American — 45,861 killed in action; 10,279 dead not as a result of hostile action; 303,404 wounded; 1,682 missing, captured or interned; and 118 missing not as a result of hostile action.

South Vietnamese — 156,353 killed and 410,964 wounded.

North Vietnamese and Viet Cong — 895,417 killed.

Cong Peace Plan Rebuffed As Old

PARIS (UPI)—The Viet Cong said today it is ready to discuss "concrete" guarantees not to seize power in South Vietnam if the United States agrees to the creation of a new cabinet in Saigon with a minority Communist participation.

The offer was made by Mme. Nguyen Thi Binh, the Viet Cong foreign minister and chief negotiator, at today's 162nd Vietnam conference session.

The offer was backed by a warning by both Madame Binh and Hanoi delegate Xuan Thuy that peace will come only if South Vietnamese President Nguyen Van Thieu is removed from power and replaced by a new tripartite coalition cabinet.

The 46-year-old Viet Cong woman politician said the United States was distorting the picture when it claimed the Viet Cong sought to seize control of the new cabinet.

She said the Viet Cong already had offered an agreement with Washington that South Vietnam would be dominated by "neither a Communist regime nor a U.S. puppet regime."

"We are also prepared to work out, together with other parties, concrete measures to implement this agreement," she said.

The U.S. and South Vietnamese delegations, which have condemned the coalition plan as a maneuver to allow the Communists to dominate South Vietnam, rejected the new Viet Cong offer. They again vainly urged a general cease-fire and direct political talks between the Communists and Saigon.

U.S. negotiator William J.

Porter walked out of the 3½-hour session, one of the shortest on record, formed a noose with his left hand thumb and forefinger and said, "We did our best and the result was zero."

The Saigon delegate walked out of the conference hall telling newsmen the session was fruitless.

"We have tried to engage the Communists in a discussion of an internationally controlled cease-fire," he said. "We didn't get anywhere. We will meet again next Thursday."

Madame Binh said United States for carrying out again dismissed the Sept. 11 bombing strikes over North Vietnam.

"We want to protest energetically the Nixon administration's massive bombings against populated areas, dams and schools government to make peace in now at the start of the school year," Madame Binh said.

Thuy said: "I have one remark—our positions remain far apart."

Thuy strongly attacked the United States for carrying out again dismissed the Sept. 11 bombing strikes over North Vietnam.

"We want to protest energetically the Nixon administration's massive bombings against populated areas, dams and schools government to make peace in now at the start of the school year," Madame Binh said.

Freeman to Sponsor Carnegie

Richard L. Treat, publisher of The Daily Freeman announced today that this newspaper will again act as sponsor of the world-famous Dale Carnegie Course soon to begin in Kingston.

"The Freeman is bringing the Dale Carnegie Course to our community because we feel it is in the interest of public service," Treat said.

Last spring's overwhelming response and the enthusiastic attitude of more than 40 graduates resulting from Kingston Class 16, points out the need to continue such programs in Kingston.

During the forming of the Kingston class here, The Daily Freeman will publish a series of feature stories by Mike Rothenberger, staff representative of Dale Carnegie and Associates, Inc., of New York. The series is entitled,

"I Will Prepare Myself." It will run on Wednesday and Sunday.

"I will prepare myself . . ." Story on page 12

The organization of this class will be under the direction of Stanley L. Brown and Associates. Brown presents Carnegie training in the Westchester and Mid-Hudson areas.

The Dale Carnegie Course for nearly sixty years, has been helping men and women to live happier, richer and more successful lives through the discovery and development of their hidden talents and potential abilities. Brown said, "such as the development of greater self-confidence, a keen memory and more effective powers of communication."

He went on to say that many people take the course primarily because they want a broader understanding of human relations. They want to know how to get along even better with people whether it be in a business or social situation.

Brown said that the Dale Carnegie Course, during its 60 years of operation, has graduated nearly two million men and women from all walks of life and the course is now offered in all 50 states and many other countries.

Anyone who is interested in more information about the Dale Carnegie Course may write or telephone The Daily Freeman and ask for Brown or Paul Kreml.

County Must Pay $249,375

Welfare Overrun at $997,500

By LYNN MULVANEY

KINGSTON

Ulster County will have to ante up $249,375 to make up the $997,500 deficit in the 1972 welfare budget. The balance will come from state and federal aid in the amount of $748,125.

The Ulster County Legislature will meet Thursday, Oct. 12 to amend the welfare budget and take action on a score of resolutions which include:

• Studying the feasibility of abolishing the Health Department.

• Authorizing a $80,000 bond issue to finance a water standpipe building on Golden Hill.

• Additional funding for Community Action wheels on meals program for senior citizens.

• Studying the creation of a Department of Central Office services, (secretarial and stenographic pool)

• Establishing a "welfare postal box" to which citizens could write about alleged welfare abuses.

• Opposing a state mandate allowing welfare recipients to receive additional monthly payments beginning with the fourth month of pregnancy.

• Expressing opposition to federal gun legislation now before the U.S. Senate and the House.

• Requesting an investigation into enjoining and prosecuting price fixers in the gasoline industry.

• Requesting the Ulster County Grand Jurors Association to sponsor "Operation Identification," a procedure for marking negotiable property.

• Adopting the Milton Agricultural District in the Town of Marlboro.

The money needed to pay for the increased costs of welfare is actually lower than anticipated. Douglas V. Dye (R-Dist. 2), chairman of the Social Services Committee estimated a $1.2 million deficit last May but said today that changes in the department at the local level had effected a cost saving. The changes included reorganization and turning welfare rolls back to town supervisors.

The water standpipe building is reportedly needed to provide additional water pressure and fire protection to the new jail and infirmary on Golden Hill.

Other resolutions to come before the board at its 4 and 8 p.m. sessions in the County Office Building include one calling for the appointment of Dr. Theodore S. Jackaway as a member of the Ulster County Mental Health Board to fill the unexpired term of the late Dr. Edward Shea. The term runs until Dec. 31, 1974.

The board will also be asked to amend the 1972 Narcotic Addiction Control Methadone budget to include $984 for a part time registered nurse.

It will also be asked to increase authorization for county parking funds in the amount of $1,331.16 to help pay for a change order in a previous contract. The funds are to be transferred from the contingency account.

Armed Holdup at City Hotel

KINGSTON

An intensive police search is under way throughout the area for an armed man who escaped with $215 in cash after holding up the night auditor at the Governor Clinton Hotel early today.

Kingston police reported that the suspect, a black male, entered the lobby of the hotel by the front door at 3:45 a.m. Going to the desk, he produced a revolver and ordered James Bissonette, the night auditor, to hand over the money in the cash drawer.

After pocketing the $215 the suspect held the gun on Bissonette and forced him to walk to Pine Street and Maiden Lane, about two blocks from the hotel, before releasing him, apparently to give the suspect time to make good his escape before Bissonette could reach a telephone and notify police.

The suspect is described in police bulletins as black, with shoulder length straight black hair, about 5 feet 8 inches tall, with a slender build and medium complexion. When last seen he was wearing a charcoal gray topcoat with belt loops but without a belt, and dark slacks.

Meanwhile, police arrested a driver and the passenger in his car after they were stopped by a uniformed patrol at 2:45 a.m.

The driver, George Clearwater, 22, of 16 Brook Street, Kingston, was charged with driving while intoxicated (narcotics), possession of a dangerous drug, sixth degree and possession of an instrument to administer narcotics.

His passenger, Leslie Mickerson, 25, of 40 Holiday Lane, Kingston, was charged with public intoxication, possession of a dangerous drug, sixth degree and possession of an instrument to administer narcotics.

Quantities of substances believed to be heroin and marijuana and hypodermic needles were allegedly found in the men's possession. Police reported that Clearwater refused to submit to a blood test. They were confined in the County Jail in lieu of $1,000 bail each to wait City Court action.

Fish Seeks Legislation To Curb Powers of UDC

WASHINGTON

Congressman Hamilton Fish Jr. has submitted legislation to Congress that would place certain restrictions on the New York State Urban Development Corporation, mainly to force the autonomous agency to "cooperate" with municipalities where it seeks to carry out construction projects.

UDC, as set up by the State Legislature in 1968, has broad powers which can be used to override local zoning and building codes.

Fish's bill, according to his legislative assistant, John Barry, "would make UDC fit in with other federal projects. You can't have an urban renewal project unless the city asks for it," Barry said. Fish's bill would cut federal funds, specifically Federal Housing Administration rent subsidy funds, in cases where UDC went into a community without approval from the community. "The idea is to make UDC live up to local laws just like all other federal agencies have to," Barry said.

Fish's bill had been rejected by the Rules Committee in Congress but Fish has resubmitted the bill to Rules and also to the Banking Committee.

UDC has a 121-unit apartment complex in construction in Broadway East which should be ready for occupancy early in 1973. UDC also has a senior citizen housing project on the drawing boards in the Town of Ulster.

Note Correction On Budget Items

TOWN OF KINGSTON

Preliminary budget figures for the Town of Kingston that appeared in Tuesday's edition of the Daily Freeman were incorrect, according to Supervisor Kenneth Whispell.

It was reported that $48,773 must be raised by taxes next year, an increase of $2,356 from this year's budget. It was also reported that the new figure would mean an increase of about $3.19 per $1,000 of assessed valuation, and that most of the increase (3.10) would go into the highway budget.

Whispell corrected the figures today. He said $46,456 must be raised, an increase of $7,683 over this year's figure. The general fund tax rate per $1,000 of assessed valuation would be increased to $3.63, an increase of nine cents, and the highway fund rate would be increased to $19.97.

Tablet Flag Removed

Editor The Freeman:
Recently some one removed the American flag from the War Memorial tablet at the triangle of Clifton and Highland Avenues.

As the flag was kept in a weatherproof container when not in use, the person who took this flag probably has taken it home. I wonder if the parents of the thief did not question this person as to where he obtained this flag.

John Dittus Jr. of 42 Clifton Avenue took pride in the daily raising and lowering of this flag. And if John wasn't available, some other member of his family did the honors.

Unless this flag is returned by the person who removed it, a 3 foot by 5 foot size replacement is needed.

Editor, The Freeman:

Dear Mr. Salzmann,

School Superintendent, Kingston

It has been brought to the attention of Lake Katrine Grange #1065 at its meeting of October 2nd, 1972 that in this area, which is well known to all of us, a young girl is being required to walk 1.4 miles while a school bus with an empty seat passes her by.

We believe that the primary responsibility of any school system should be the health, welfare and well being of all children; this is over and above the requirement of educating them.

It is the opinion of this Grange that this situation should be corrected immediately, and we further recommend that in any comparable situations the School Board take corrective action.

Respectfully,

MAURICE LINDER

Editor, The Freeman:

Help! I'm not sure whether this should be written as a fable or a comedy. But whatever the story it is a very sad picture.

I've just reviewed part of the voting record of Mr. Richard Schermerhorn and I wonder if I misinterpreted everything.

Wasn't he the Senator who was for the little guy, the working man and the guy who is always kicked around by the politicians? Wasn't he the Senator who was going to protect us all from the liberal money spenders?

Well, do you know he voted for cuts for Medicaid for the working poor? But just to show you that he's not against everyone — he voted to give himself a $7,000 tax free additional expense account — A LuLu.

He's going to save us money alright! He voted for a $100,000,000 Thruway Bond Issue for mending Pot-holes.

Who voted to cut $37,800,000 for Mental Health facilities? That's right, Mr. Schermerhorn! However he didn't figure out that the people in Middletown State Hospital would lose their jobs! And the poor people with mental problems would have no place to go!

Who voted to raise the sales tax from 3 per cent to 4 per cent? You guessed it! (Boy that really saved the little guy a lot of money.)

But wait! He did vote against something. — He voted against No-Fault Insurance. The only people who benefit from the present insurance plan are the lawyers. No-Fault insurance would cut the premiums in half. Did he have the people's interest in mind when he voted against it?

This is only a small part of his voting record. I just couldn't believe my eyes when I read this voting record.

We better vote him out of office before he makes us broke with his tax saving gimmicks.

Sincerely,

THOMAS GUERRIERO

Snout of the Beast

Editor, The Freeman:

Anyone seeking examples of the adage that holds 'the more complex the problem becomes, the simpler becomes its proposed solution' — needs but to read his local newspaper.

There, on one day, may be found a man who aspires to the highest elective office in the land, suggesting that the undeclared war (on poverty) which some Americans have been waging for almost two hundred years could be won simply by losing the undeclared war — which some Americans have been waging for the last ten years.

On another day may be found a woman reader, who aspires to no public office, suggesting that the monumental problem of burgeoning anti-social behavior, which has our prisons groaning and our social scientists scratching, could be largely eliminated, and that 'our penal institutions would be nearly empty if unwanted children were not brought into this world. No means other than infanticide are advanced to prevent this entry of the unwanted.'

I re-read the letter (which appeared under the ominous but misleading caption 'Plea to Abort Foes') several times in the hope of finding some of the biting, 19th century satire which offered as a 'Modest Proposal' to the solution of the Irish problem of over-population and famine — the suggestion that the starving Irish eliminate both of their problems simply by eating their children. I found no satire. What I did find frightened me.

It was not the tired charge that a minority pressure group is trying to force people to have additional children. It was not the facetious suggestion that those who proclaim their opposition to abortion — a euphemism for infanticide — prove their sincerity by taking criminals into their homes. Nor was it the puzzling pronouncement that 'more important than the right to life, is the right to love and security' — (where, other than the grave, can one have the latter without the former?)

What scared the hell out of me was a feeling that a subtle change may have taken place in America's attitude toward abortion, and that it is reflected in the letter-writer's referring to the 'unwanted' as someone who 'would be burdensome not only to the family but eventually to society.'

It was not too long ago that those advocating abortion justified the act on the grounds that it prevented the birth of deformed children — saved the life of an endangered mother — saved the sanity of the victim of the rapist and more recently, on the grounds that what a woman did with her body was a personal matter. The point is that these proponents were trying to justify the act. But one does not justify a service to society. On the contrary — there is need to justify not serving the common good. Notice the subtle difference? 'I am not terminating a life for personal gain — the good of society demands it of me.'

Shortly after World War II, a French author attempted to document and evaluate the circumstances and happenings that culminated in the ultimate horror of Nazism. In summing up his work, he posed the question, 'Can it happen again?' — and then proceeded to answer it — 'Yes, it can and probably will.' The reason he gave for this gloomy prediction was that he felt man to be basically an animal possessing not only unique talents but dangerous instincts — that his unique talents had coated him with a thin veneer of civilization — and it was this veneer which kept his dangerous instincts in check. But he warned let society but give them free play, or worse, make virtues of them. 'Then, surely, from the depths of time, the snout of the beast will reappear.'

I thought at the time, that the author was unduly pessimistic and could not conceive of any nation allowing that which I had so recently witnessed. And for Americans to do so was unthinkable. But now, I am not so sure, and this is what is so frightening. For if many more Americans view abortion as I think the writer of the 'Plea' does — we've come a long way, baby — a long way indeed.

Sincerely,

FRANCIS CAHILL

Schermerhorn's Nays

Editor, The Freeman:

I find myself confounded at the number of negative votes cast by Schermerhorn for legislation that I feel were greatly needed. Fortunately several of the laws were approved by a majority vote and the Senator sided with a very small minority.

He voted against the 18-21 vote (passed 51-3).

Voted against the equal rights for women (passed 52-3).

Voted against extension of Blue Cross to cover mental disorders.

Voted against the majority on a proposal for supplementary low-income rent program (passed).

Voted for large reductions in State Regents Scholarships and Scholarship, Incentive Programs.

Most of his votes make it difficult to understand his motivation or philosophy.

His statement objecting to Stewart Air Force being expanded, which was acclaimed by those who also opposed it, was soon followed by a vote in the Senate for an appropriation of $40,000,000 to expand the base. There was a rider on that appropriation that gave the senators a $7,000 "lulu." Certainly the Senator could not be so money hungry as to accuse him of being influenced by that emolument.

Sears Hunter is opposing the incumbent in the coming election. I have known Sears for forty-five years and am confident of his wisdom and good sense. He is a man of deep compassion which he has evidenced in supporting projects that are for the benefit of the community. His personal kindnesses to those in need of help are given so unostentatiously that the general public is not cognizant of all that he has done.

I feel we would be fortunate to have him represent this district in the State Senate.

Me and Israel

Editor, The Freeman:

In his quest for Jewish support, Senator McGovern has said that his position on Israel should be judged not by his words alone, but by his record as well. He is vulnerable on both counts.

He favored selling Phantom jets to Israel, as he states, but he fails to state that he imposed a condition that these jets should not be used over Arab territory. That would condemn Israel, should she be forced to fight, to a 'no-win' war, the kind of war McGovern has insisted, successfully, that we fight in North Vietnam. For a long time we refused to bomb the military targets in North Vietnam which our Chiefs of Staff recommended. If and when Israel is compelled to fight to prevent the destruction of her homeland she will fight to win, even if the fight has to be waged on Arab territory.

And if Israel, acting on McGovern's advice, should be in danger of losing the war, as President Thieu, of South Vietnam, now is, all that she could hope for is an offer similar to the one which McGovern now offers Thieu: Golda Meir will be offered asylum in the United States.

Also, McGovern, to satisfy his left-wing constituency, which has taken over the Democratic party, has denounced U.S. use of military bases in Greece. Two years ago, when a Syrian force of 250 Soviet-made tanks poured across the border into Jordan for the purpose of overthrowing King Hussein because of the King's moderate stand towards Israel and replacing him with a fedayeen-dominated pro-Soviet regime, President Nixon responded by making arrangements with the Greek government to provide staging areas and base support in case U.S. troops would have to move in to prevent a communist take over which would further jeopardize Israel's position. These bases are of vital importance to Israel's defense and security. McGovern would deprive her of that.

Now McGovern says he would send U.S. troops to Israel in case of war. Israel hasn't asked for and doesn't want our troops. She dreads the idea. All she wants from the U.S. are the jets and other materials to match those supplied by the Russians to the Arabs. She doesn't need McGovern's advice as to how to wage war or his promises to help Israel. She knows how worthless those promises are.

Budget Hearings Begin in State

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Budget experts from the Rockefeller administration and both houses of the legislature are listening to a parade of state agency heads explain how they intend to spend their budgets next year.

The annual series of budget hearings—informal private sessions with heads of departments to discuss their budget requests—began this week in a conference room at the Capitol.

Budget Director Richard L. Dunham, representing Gov. Nelson Rockefeller, is conducting the hearings, which he hopes to conclude by early November.

Then he and the governor will refine the budget requests and come up with the executive budget which Rockefeller will present to the legislature in January.

State officials have given strong indications that the document will not be much larger—if any—than the $7.9-billion spending program for the current fiscal year.

If there is any increase, it will be confined to areas where spending has had to go up because of either growth or inflation, they say.

The governor told agency chiefs late in July they could expect no more money under the new budget than they are getting under the current one.

He called this a continuation of state spending and said if they face increases because of unavoidable growth they will have to "eliminate or reduce" lower-priority programs.

The budget requests from all state agencies were due in the Budget Division on Sept. 8.

Spokesmen declined to say what they added up to or even to say if any departments had requested substantial increases.

At the hearings—as many as three or four a day lasting up to two hours apiece—each commissioner or department head makes a formal presentation to the fiscal experts.

An aide of Dunham said the discussions give everybody a chance "to find out what is of concern to each side."

The hearings are private, he said, to give everybody a chance to look at the budget requests "outside of the glare of publicity."

And besides, he said, the legislature will conduct its own public hearings on the budget after it is introduced next year, giving the public a chance to comment.

HEADED FOR COURT — Millionaire Glenn Turner (L) and one of his aides heads for court in Clearwater, Fla. to face contempt charges. (UPI TELEPHOTO)

Turner Has Court Date

CLEARWATER, Fla. (AP) — Millionaire businessman Glenn W. Turner was jailed for five hours after a demonstration by a group of 600 women supporters sparked the wrath of a circuit court judge.

The 38-year-old Turner was bailed out of the Pinellas County Jail by nightfall Wednesday after his lawyers got a $2,000 bond set by 2nd District Court of Appeal Judge Joseph McNulty.

His temporary reprieve comes up for review today in Lakeland when the judge will hear arguments on whether the bond should be made permanent.

"I'm not going to preside in a zoo," Circuit Judge William A. Patterson said as he issued the contempt citation that would have confined Turner behind bars for 150 days.

Patterson claimed the demonstration by wives of Turner company salesmen resulted in a "circus-like atmosphere" (that) made a mockery of his court.

Ulster County this summer, giving a speech before a sales meeting of his organization at the Granit Hotel in Accord.

Turner and two business associates were scheduled for trial Wednesday morning on 86 counts of violating Florida's securities law in sales of "Dare To Be Great," a motivational course. It is a subsidiary of Turner's 10-company, Orlando-based conglomerate, Glenn W. Turner Enterprises.

The government claims the self-improvement course franchises are securities under state law. Turner's legal team claims they are not.

Two hours before Turner arrived, women devotees jammed the courthouse steps waving handlettered signs, reading, "We Love You, Glenn" and "God Bless You."

They were ordered to clear the entrance ways and Patterson, delaying the trial until Monday, said "whoever is responsible for trying to make a circus out of the courthouse should be investigated for jury tampering."

Post-Election Probe Promised in Wheat Case

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Agriculture Committee has promised a post-election probe of the U.S. wheat sale to the Soviet Union, a deal that Agriculture Secretary Earl L. Butz now says he should have handled differently.

Butz told newsmen Wednesday that if he had known that one of his assistants was planning to quit and take a job with a major grain exporter, he would not have sent him to Moscow for agriculture trade negotiations.

The timing of Clarence D. Palmby's resignation as assistant agriculture secretary to become vice president of Continental Grain Co. in New York has figured in the grain-trade dispute.

Palmby reportedly contracted for an expensive New York apartment last April, a day or so before leaving for Moscow with Butz and other negotiators. Palmby finally quit June 7.

Had he known that Palmby was buying the New York apartment, Butz said, "I would not have taken Mr. Palmby on the team."

He emphasized he was not questioning Palmby's integrity, but would have considered it unwise to include a departing official in the negotiations because "in our business, you operate in a goldfish bowl."

Palmby repeatedly has denied that he carried advance information of the Soviet Union's massive grain purchases to Continental.

Critics of the deal have alleged that major exporters, including Continental, profited from advance knowledge, while farmers were kept in the dark so their wheat could be bought before the large sale pushed prices up.

Meanwhile, Sen. Herman E. Talmadge, D-Ga., announced Wednesday that the Agriculture Committee will undertake a probe of the deal as soon as possible after the Nov. 7 election.

Talmadge, the committee chairman, said members will try to determine whether improper or illegal practices were followed and also will try "to correct any weaknesses in our procedures which have apparently created this controversy."

Talmadge questioned the Agriculture Department's export subsidy policy.

"There is some question as to whether a $250 million subsidy was needed this year when no other country had significant quantities of wheat to offer on the world market," he said.

Jailed Newsman's Statement Read to House Subcommittee

WASHINGTON (AP) — A reporter jailed for refusing to tell authorities his sources of information said today he hoped his case would spur Congress to make newsmen immune from such prosecution.

The statement of Peter Bridge, who was convicted of contempt of court by a grand jury in Essex County, N.J., was read to a House Judiciary Subcommittee by John Mulligan, secretary of the New York Press Club.

Bridge, whose conviction was upheld Tuesday by the U.S. Supreme Court, was ordered to jail until he answers the grand jury's questions or until the jury term ends.

He was convicted after refusing to tell the grand jury the source of a story he wrote in the Newark Evening News last May reporting a bribery offer to a housing commissioner.

Mulligan said Bridge's case is an example of a growing threat to newsmen stemming from a June 29 decision of the Supreme Court that there is no inherent constitutional protection of confidential news sources.

"Under that decision," said Mulligan, "every news reporter, rewrite man, newscaster or editor in the United States faces the prospect of going to jail."

Several bills have been introduced in Congress to prevent newsmen from being forced to disclose their sources. In its June 29 decision, the Supreme Court said Congress could provide such protection if it wanted to.

Bares Telephone Tap

Watergate Participant Talks

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—An admitted participant in the bugging of Democratic headquarters says he personally delivered transcripts of eavesdropped conversations to the Committee for the Re-election of the President, the Los Angeles Times reported today.

The Times printed an interview with Alfred C. Baldwin III, a key government witness before the grand jury that indicted seven men in the "Watergate Caper."

Baldwin told the Times that for three weeks he sat at a telephone tap in the Howard Johnson's Motel across the street from the Watergate complex and listened in on about 200 telephone conversations by Democratic campaign workers.

"Some dealing with political strategy and others with personal matters," Baldwin said he was working for James W. McCord Jr., then security coordinator for the Nixon campaign committee, who was fired when his role in the bugging incident was revealed, the Times said.

McCord told him to deliver the transcripts of those conversations to an official of the Committee for the Re-election of the President, the Times quoted Baldwin as saying.

Baldwin said he could not remember the identity of the official, but the man was not among the seven indicted.

Baldwin said he put the transcripts in an envelope addressed to the official and took it to the Nixon committee offices several blocks away.

"An elderly guard was on duty in the building and he took the envelope, recognized the name on it and said he would see to it that the official received it," Baldwin told the Times.

In the wiretaps, Baldwin said

McCord was primarily interested in information regarding

Democratic political strategy, the party's presidential nominee Sen. George McGovern and

Lawrence F. O'Brien, then

party chairman.

Baldwin said that he was ordered by McCord to get inside the Democratic offices,

C'Brien's phone, which had been improperly tapped before,

Baldwin said.

Baldwin, a former FBI agent and Marine Corps captain, said he was making public what he knew because he felt he "had been disowned by The Committee to Re-elect the President,"

The Times said Baldwin's

attorneys had asked that it not publish the interview. The newspaper quoted the attorneys

as saying that a Justice Department lawyer had told them that, if Baldwin spoke to the paper, the department

might reconsider its decision not to prosecute him.

Surgeon Tells How He Repaired Body

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—An Oregon surgeon reported today that he has taken a part out of the human body, carried it to a work bench for repairs, and then plugged it back into the patient where it began working properly.

The part repaired by Dr. Russell L. Lawson was the kidney, but he told the American College of Surgeons that similar outside-the-body work could be done on the heart and liver. He said it was the first time such an operation had been performed.

Lawson removed and cooled the kidneys of two patients—a 31-year-old man and 21-year-old woman—and made repairs of lesions in the renal arteries. The kidneys were reimplanted in the patients' groins four and six hours after their removal. Both have shown excellent outcomes.

"The technique is an extension of the technical aspects of organ transplants—a logical extension of removing organs from cadavers and preserving them for several hours prior to transplants," said Lawson, an associate professor of urology at the University of Oregon Medical School in Portland.

He said the procedure permitted him to repair damage that couldn't be reached by usual surgery because some of the work had to be done under a microscope. He said he could also reach areas that would have been inaccessible if the kidneys remained in the body.

The alternative in both cases,

he said, was removal of the ailing kidney and its replacement with a transplant from another donor.

Lawson said the same thing could be done for delicate repairs inside the heart, for removal of tumors from the kidney, or for work on the liver. The technology of transplants and preservation has developed furthest with those organs, he said.

The college's annual meeting was told Wednesday that within a decade surgeons will be routinely performing open heart surgery and organ transplants

on human embryos prior to birth.

Cult Leader... 'Ceremony Was Harmless'

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP)—A cult leader accused of performing a ritualistic stabbing ceremony which resulted in the death of a man contended Wednesday the ceremony was harmless.

Robert Strong, 56, of Rochester made the assertion as he testified in his own behalf in Monroe County Court.

Strong is charged with second-degree manslaughter in the death of Kenneth Goings, 25, of Rochester.

The prosecution told the jury

it intended to show that Goings died from wounds inflicted last winter in a ritual performed by Strong.

But Strong, whose cult is known as the Sudan Muslims and who calls himself Omar Ali-Sheriff, said the ritual had not caused the young man's death.

"He did not die for my religion," the defendant said. "He died of one of the sickest diseases on earth—drugs."

Defending the so-called "cleansing" rite he practiced, Strong said, "I have done it to over 500 people," including a "3-year-old girl and a 6-month old child."

These others, he said, had not died.

A prosecution witness, Mrs. Maefory Anderson, testified she had witnessed Strong stab Goings with a knife and saw Goings bleed.

She said Goings was able to walk after the ritual, but grew weaker later on.

Goings' body was recovered from a creek near Buffalo last

Feb. 25.

Strong, appearing in court bare-chested, but wearing a gold-colored turban, a robe and sandals, is conducting his own defense.

The Times said Baldwin's attorneys had asked that it not publish the interview. The newspaper quoted the attorneys as saying that a Justice Department lawyer had told them that, if Baldwin spoke to the paper, the department might reconsider its decision not to prosecute him.

CULT LEADER ON TRIAL — Religious cult leader Robert Strong, also known as "Omar Ali Sherif," is standing trial on a charge of second degree manslaughter in Monroe County court. KINGSTON, NEW YORK, OCTOBER 5, 1972

Jack Anderson Says Burger Grumps on Consumer Bills

WASHINGTON — The Supreme Court is supposed to rule on laws after they're passed, not meddle with them while they're still before Congress. Yet, Chief Justice Warren Burger sent an envoy a few weeks ago to urge House Speaker Carl Albert to water down the products safety bill.

This would protect consumers from dangerous products. Burger fears it would also overload the federal courts with new cases. The chief justice, therefore, dispatched Rowland Kirks, the stuffy chief administrator of the federal courts, up to Capitol Hill to talk to Albert. Kirks was accompanied, astonishingly, by one of Washington's most engaging special pleaders, Tom "Tommy the Cork" Corcoran, who has clients opposed to the products safety bill. For months, Burger has been grumbling about all the new laws that are being passed. He complained in 1970 to the American Bar Association: "Not a week passes without speeches in Congress and elsewhere and editorials demanding new laws — to control pollution, for example, and new laws allowing class actions by consumers to protect the public from greedy and unscrupulous producers and sellers." This was clogging the courts, he grumped.

"... and Now, Here Comes the Champ!"

Same Theme

He hammered on the same theme again a few weeks ago during a return engagement before the bar association. He expressed an urgent need "to have Congress carefully scrutinize all legislation that will create more cases."

Putting his words into action, he sent Kirks four days later to lobby with Speaker Albert against the products safety bill. "Tommy the Cork," as charming an Irishman as ever practiced the art of political persuasion, volunteered to serve as Kirks' guide.

When my associate Les Whitten called Kirks to ask about his lobbying mission, Kirks snapped: "I have nothing to say on this matter."

"Does this mean you are denying it?" asked Whitten.

"I am not going to say anything about this," Kirks repeated.

"But you are a public servant," pressed Whitten, "and the public has a right to know about this intervention."

"I don't want to be impolite, Mr. Whitten," said Kirks firmly, "but the conversation is at an end." And he hung up the phone.

Corcoran was more candid. He acknowledged that he had taken Kirks in to see Speaker Albert. "Kirks, asking me to take him to see the Speaker," said Corcoran.

Although the drug interests have been leading the fight against the products safety bill and Corcoran has drug clients, he said he had not represented any client during the visit with Albert. Corcoran explained he had accompanied Kirks as a friend. "I have known Kirks for years," he said.

As Albert recalled the visit, Corcoran had done most of the talking. "Corcoran argued that the products safety bill would clutter the courts, and Kirks would say 'yes,'" the Speaker told us. He said he had not intervened, as they had requested, to weaken the bill.

Judiciary Important Instrument

While the chief justice has been lobbying to keep public interest cases out of the federal courts, a confidential memo from Associate Justice Lewis Powell calls upon the U.S. Chamber of Commerce to hire a staff of lawyers to bring special interest cases before the courts.

"The judiciary," he wrote shortly before his appointment to the Supreme Court last year, "may be the most important instrument for social, economic and political change... Labor unions, civil rights groups and now the public interest law firms are extremely active in the judicial arena."

"Their success, often at business' expense, has not been inconsequential. This is a vast area of opportunity for the Chamber, if it is willing to undertake the role of spokesman for American business and if, in turn, business is willing to provide the funds."

It looks as if the Warren Burger court may be more interested in encouraging special interest than public interest cases.

Footnote: The chief justice flew out to San Francisco for the American Bar Association convention, incidentally, under the assumed name of W. Burke. He is nagged by fears that radicals might try to harm him. Intimates say he greeted a caller at his door several months ago with a drawn pistol. Burger failed to respond to our numerous requests for comment.

Supporting Nixon

The Freeman is supporting Richard M. Nixon in the forthcoming presidential election.

We do this because we feel Nixon, and not Democrat George S. McGovern, is better qualified in experience and mature judgment to lead this country for the next four years.

The most vexing of problems were handed to Nixon when he assumed the presidency four years ago.

America was traumatized over the violent waves of change that had characterized the Sixties; new social and political theories, some hastily conceived, had been foisted upon a largely unwilling public. A distressing war in Southeast Asia was an albatross around our necks.

America desired a period of regrouping and voted Nixon into the White House.

His cry then was that he would bring us together—and largely he has succeeded.

The President has scored spectacular successes in foreign relations, vis a vis, China and Russia and has reestablished America's role as a leader in the community of nations.

He has withdrawn more than 500,000 men from Vietnam and brought them home.

The war is still there, but it has been wound down and hopefully will culminate with dignity and national honor.

There is still much, however, to do on the domestic front.

Inflation and crime have been curtailed but not completely stopped. Human rights, pollution, the problems of the elderly, revenue-sharing, transportation and housing still are issues to be met, and must be spotlighted in the next four years.

Can this be done by George McGovern—who resembles nothing so much as a human gadfly flitting from issue to issue and accommodatingly changing his position with every leap?—no.

Richard Nixon requires and deserves four more years in Washington to accomplish both his foreign and domestic goals, and further insure the prosperity and security of this nation.

Satan Worshipers

Organized religion is receiving some unwelcome imitators these days in the form of exploiters of gullible young people, drug cultists searching for Nirvana on welfare handouts, and an assortment of Indian mystics, backwoods charlatans and money hungry revivalists. The phenomenon is a recurrence of the darker moods of the human spirit when man lost faith with traditional institutions.

As harmful and disenchanting as some of these masquerades of religion turn out to be, none approach the depths of the Satan worshipers, whose cult of sacrifice and denouncement of God are terrifying reminders of man's dark past when ignorance, fear and human debasement made men lower than animals.

It is hardly surprising then that the public should react with shock and utter incredulity to reports by police that the murder of a 16-year-old girl on a cliff in Springfield, N. J., may have been the work of a Satan worshiper or group practicing witchcraft. The religious background of the dead girl, however, would make her an alien in such a group; a worshiper of Jesus who either was kidnaped or innocently misled into witnessing the so-called religious rites.

This baffling horror story would be terrible enough if it turns out to be "just another" case of murder. But murder for kicks, drugs or to satisfy some evil spirit makes us question the sanity of cult leaders preaching hatred as a way of spiritual salvation.

May God spare us from these false redeemers.

BROKEN-GLASS ROAD — A road into, and all through, a parking lot in Windsor, Conn., is paved with 500,000 broken glass bottles and jars, but no cars there get flat tires. Recycled glass, collected by volunteers, has been mixed in great quantities with materials which make a beautiful and lasting glass aggregate for street paving. This is recycling for a purpose.

David Lawrence Says

Road to Normalcy

WASHINGTON — Although progress toward assuring peace in the world is not a matter of day-by-day headlines, there can be no question about the intensive efforts being made by the principal governments to find the ways and means of "normalizing" relations and avoiding military confrontations. Secretary of State William P. Rogers, in his speech at the opening session of the U.N. General Assembly, said:

"During the past few years the world has made remarkable advances toward the charter goal of 'practicing tolerance and living together in peace with one another as good neighbors.'"

"In 1972 alone, The United States and the Soviet Union have undertaken with each other to do 'their utmost' to avoid military confrontation, to respect the sovereign equality of all countries, and to promote conditions in which no country would be subject to 'outside interference in its internal affairs.'"

"The Soviet Union and the United States have also placed precise limitations on our defensive and at least for the next five years on our offensive strategic missile systems."

"The United States and the People's Republic of China have undertaken to broaden understanding between our peoples, to improve relations between us in the conviction that this would be 'in the interests of all states,' and to oppose any efforts toward hegemony in Asia or toward spheres of interest."

Secretary Rogers spoke of the Agreements made by the four powers which control Berlin to ensure unimpeded movement to and from that city by road, rail and waterways. He emphasized the negotiations between the two German governments, which are seeking to make a treaty to "normalize their relations." He referred also to the talks between North and South Korea on problems of unification.

Mr. Rogers pointed to the possibility of creating a "more stable military balance" in Central Europe by negotiation of mutual and balanced force reductions. He believes exploratory discussions on this subject could begin soon, and thinks they will be productive.

The Secretary of State mentioned other areas of the world in which progress needs to be accelerated. He said that in Africa, the U.N. General Assembly should continue to seek self-determination and social justice for the peoples of all races. He added that the United States will, as in the past, lend its backing to practical efforts to achieve these ends.

So far as Latin America is concerned, economic development is a matter of grave concern. The United States remains committed to a program of economic assistance, especially through regional organizations, and is supporting the participation of Latin American and other developing countries in negotiations to bring about a new international trading system.

As for Vietnam, Secretary Rogers pointed out that President Nixon has pledged the United States to make a major effort to assist both Vietnamese states "in post-war reconstruction." Under the circumstances, he declared, it is difficult to understand why the war is being prolonged.

The momentum toward peace in the Middle East must be regained, Secretary Rogers stated, although the problems have not been made easier by the Munich killings. The secretary asserted that a genuine negotiating process between the parties concerned is essential in the Middle East and that no settlement "imposed from the outside" could long endure. He added:

"Negotiations is not capitulation. Negotiating activity among long-standing antagonists across the world is presently occurring. Why should the Middle East be an exception? When North Korea can talk with South Korea, when East Germans can talk with West Germans, when Indians and Pakistanis can meet in the immediate aftermath of war and prior to the withdrawal of troops — then surely the Middle East should be no exception to the general rule that differences should be reconciled through an active dialogue between the parties concerned."

Mr. Rogers stated the view that the most promising first step would be talks leading to an "Interim Suez Canal Agreement." This he feels, would separate the combatants and restore to Egypt the operations of an authority over the canal. Though involving some Israeli withdrawal, it would preserve the cease-fire and provide momentum for an over-all settlement. The United States, he asserted, remains prepared to assist in achieving peace in the Middle East.

Ray Cromley Says

China's Economic Plan in S.A.

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Reports out of South and Central America indicate the extraordinarily blunt use Mao Tse-tung's men are making of the economic carrot in their political-diplomatic efforts south of the border.

The scenario is simple. Mao's men whet the appetite of the businessmen in the country they're wooing with talk of major purchases of minerals, coffee, fish or whatever, count on the hopes of profit to induce these businessmen to work on their governments.

The field is ripe. Latins are weary of their strong dependence on the ups and downs of the U.S. market.

In Peru, China has agreed to buy $100 million worth of minerals over the next three years. Peking is taking copper, lead, zinc — but also fish powder and fish oil.

Peking has shown an interest in Mexican sugar, cotton, coffee, wheat, lead, copper, and cacao. El Salvador has hopes of selling coffee. China has agreed to buy sizable amounts of aluminum ore and sugar from Guyana and hinted to the Bolivian, the Venezuelan and Brazilian merchants of sizable purchases, if...

Peking has given Peru and Chile sizable interest-free 20-year loans ($42 million in one case and $65 million or so in the other) with no need to make any repayments for roughly a decade. Guyana has been given technical assistance.

An analysis shows that Mao aims at building contacts where he can, and that his efforts are not confined to those governments close to China ideologically.

In fact, where it is to China's interest, Mao apparently has been willing to sacrifice the interests of local Latin Communist parties, even pro-Peking sects, and work with groups antagonistic to Communism.

In this sacrifice of ideology to expediency, the Chinese have adopted the Soviet approach which they profess to despise.

But it is to be noted that they have not been overly successful in developing Chinese-oriented underground Chinese Communist organizations in Argentina, Bolivia, Brazil, Chile, Colombia, the Dominican Republic, Ecuador, Mexico and Peru, they are, in almost all cases, extremely small and unimportant. Except in two countries, they are below the Russian parties in size and importance.

The Peking objectives seem clear as of now — to win votes in the United Nations and backing in this chunk of nations in Peking's struggle with the Soviet Union, in her over-all drive for worldwide influence and in her efforts to undermine U.S. prestige and power.

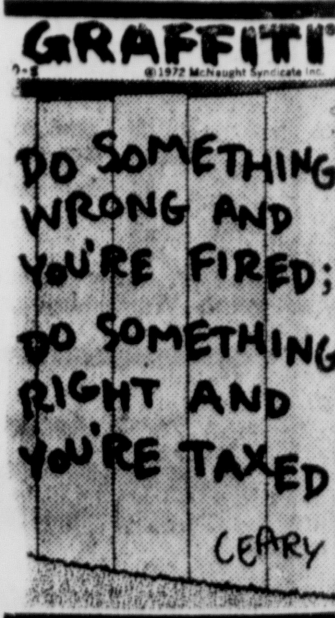

The indications are that Mao's strategists have decided the United States can be most effectively attacked or undermined through political-diplomatic-economic infiltration of its underdeveloped neighbors.

This is in line with the approach Lin Biao publicly favored with such strength. Lin said that "cities" (Developed nations such as the United States) must be attacked through the "rural areas" underdeveloped nations in this terminology. Though Lin has been discredited, it is obvious that his strategy has not.

WHERE THEY STAND

THE ISSUES OF THE 1972 CAMPAIGN

Vietnam War

REPUBLICANS

We will continue to seek a settlement of the Vietnam war which will permit the people of Southeast Asia to live in peace under political arrangements of their own choosing.

We believe that the President's proposal — to withdraw remaining American forces from Vietnam four months after an internationally supervised cease-fire has gone into effect throughout Indo-China and all prisoners have been returned — is as generous an offer as can be made by anyone — by anyone, that is, who is not bemused with surrender.

We insist that, before all American forces are withdrawn from Vietnam, American prisoners must be returned and a full accounting made of the missing in action and of those who have died in enemy hands.

DEMOCRATS

Immediate and complete withdrawal of all U.S. forces in Indo-China and an end to all U.S. military action in Southeast Asia — with this proviso: We must insist that any resolution of the war include the return of all prisoners held by North Vietnam and other adversary forces, and the fullest possible accounting for the missing.

After the end of U.S. direct-combat participation, military aid to the Saigon Government and elsewhere in Indo-China will be terminated, but humanitarian assistance will be offered to the people of Vietnam to help them repair the ravages of war.

The positions above were extracted from the official 1972 platforms of the Republican and Democratic Parties.

Gilman Says Dow Ducks Amnesty Issue

MIDDLETOWN Democratic Congressman John G. Dow has been accused of "ducking the amnesty issue" by Assemblyman Benjamin A. Gilman, the GOP candidate for Congress in Ulster's new 26th District.

Gilman, in challenging Dow to "make his position clear," said, "I have spelled out my stance but I have yet to hear the incumbent express his views. We can only assume he lined up close to McGovern, his candidate, who espouses unconditional amnesty for the draft evaders."

Gilman opposes a general amnesty and says any consideration for draft evaders must wait until the war is over. After the war, he says, each case must be determined at a proper judicial hearing and be conditioned upon a penalty of mandated service in addition to the required two years of service.

Gilman questioned the extent of Dow's concern for the Vietnam veteran returning to a tight job market. "Just what has he done as a congressman to help ease this burden?" Gilman asked.

"All well and good to talk about bill introductions," said Gilman. "But what about the real accomplishment? Dow has introduced innumerable bills that never see the light of day."

"In his six years in Congress he has introduced more than 320 bills, only four of which have passed. And of these, two were private bills and the other two were multi-sponsored."

"I don't label that kind of lawmaking as leadership; I call it tokenism," said Gilman.

"A legislator has the responsibility to fight for the bills he introduces and sponsors; it is not enough to pay lip service to constituent's needs by putting a bill in the hopper, hoping it takes the right course," he added.

The 26th District encompasses Orange, Rockland and southern Ulster counties.

Gilman said he would continue to attack Dow's record.

Despite what he called "our incumbent congressman's obvious fit of pique over my criticism of his record," Gilman said, "I have no intention of burying the issues to convenience him."

Gilman said he was "amazed" at Dow's reaction. "To complain that I have been picking at him," said Gilman, "is an insult to the voters."

"Surely Dow expected his record to be held up to public scrutiny. And I assumed he would attempt to defend that record. Instead, it turns out he evidently hopes I will spare him the trouble by avoiding the issues," Gilman said.

"However, so that Dow will no longer harbor such hopes, I want to make it clear that my dissection of his incredibly poor record of ineffective and unresponsive representation will continue until Election Day. I have only thus far scratched the surface of our incumbent's sorry performance in Washington," Gilman concluded.

O'Neil Seeks Help for Viet Vet

ENDWELL "While many liberal politicians cry out for those who deserted their country and fled to Canada and Sweden, they remain silent about the shameful treatment being accorded veterans of the Vietnam conflict," Patrick O'Neil, Conservative candidate for Congress in Ulster County's new 27th District said today.

"The men who served in that thankless guerrilla war have returned to this country to discover the college benefits they were promised are too puny to cover tuition, fees, and books. There is no question of the veteran's benefits being anywhere near enough to help cover living expenses," O'Neil explained. "While the Department of Health, Education, and Welfare busies itself in many areas of activity, sometimes without statutory justification, it does nothing to enforce laws that protect the jobs of returning veterans. "The greatest shame in the area of veterans' benefits comes in the area of the VA hospitals available in this country. In metropolitan areas particularly, the VA hospitals are thoroughly understaffed. Paraplegic patients remain unmoved, literally for days in some cases. Many types of treatment are unavailable," O'Neil continued.

"America owes a debt of honor to those who have borne arms in the service of their country. Those who volunteered and those who were drafted alike are entitled to far better treatment than they have received. This certainly cannot be classified as charity, the service men from this war, and the widows and orphans of servicemen deserve the highest priority in the receipt of benefits."

"Let us not let down the soldiers of America at home in the same disgraceful way we let them down when we sent them to fight a war we were afraid to win," he concluded.

Blazer Endorsed by AFL-CIO

SOUTH KORTRIGHT David H. Blazer, candidate for Congress in the 27th Congressional district (including Broome, Sullivan, Tioga and parts of Delaware, Chemung, Tompkins and Ulster Counties) announced today that the New York State AFL-CIO has voted to endorse his candidacy.

Stressing his support for legislation which aides the worker and creates more jobs, Blazer said: his Republican opponent Rep. Howard Robison has been an avid supporter of President Nixon's successful efforts to create the first engineered recession in our history. The resulting unemployment is at a critical stage and is rising every day.

"I think this endorsement shows us that people are aware of Robison's contempt for any legislation which aids the working man and brings down unemployment," Blazer said.

Hinchey Seeks Laws on Spillage

SAUGERTIES Citing several recent commercial oil spills on the state's waterways including the 5,000 gallon oil spill in May into Lake George and the 2,000 gallon oil spill into the Esopus Creek at Saugerties last week, Maurice D. Hinchey, Democratic-Liberal candidate for the Assembly, today announced a two-point program to prevent future spills in areas where oil can flow into lakes, rivers or streams.

"The state legislature should make it law that earthen dikes be constructed around oil storage areas or any other places where oil is transferred in quantity to or from barges, trucks or storage tanks. Such areas should be capable of containing any oil spill, no matter how large," he suggested.

"Secondly, all oil delivery systems involving transfers to or from tanks and trucks should be equipped with a 'dead man' handle mechanism. This would eliminate the kind of accidental oil discharge that polluted Lake George by causing an automatic shutoff of oil flow at any unattended valve," he said.

"I intend to propose legislation requiring such devices to be used on oil flow equipment in all communities in the state where oil spills into waterways are a potential hazard."

"In conjunction with this proposal, clear state and federal guidelines should be established to insure that firms who are fined for polluting the state's waterways cannot write off such assessments as income tax deductions. As it is, companies fined for polluting may escape the effect of the fine by charging it off on a tax return. The effect of this is that taxpayers pay a double cost for cleaning up industrial pollution. This ridiculous situation must be stopped," Hinchey concluded.

Builders Back B. Sears Hunter

NEWBURGH The Orange County Building and Construction Trades Council has endorsed the candidacy of B. Sears Hunter, Democratic candidate for State Senator from the 40th District.

In announcing the council's support for the 58-year-old Newburgh lawyer and Blooming Grove resident, William Mims, president, declared that "Hunter has a clear recognition of the area's economic problems and has come up with sensible proposals to meet them."

Deploring the higher than national average rate of unemployment in Orange and Ulster Counties, Hunter has proposed that on large projects, such as the development of Stewart Airport and Con Edison's power plant at Cornwall local trade unions and non-unionized skilled and unskilled workers be given hiring preferences.

The council is Orange County's largest union, having more than 6,000 members.

Earlier this month, Hunter received also the endorsement of the 2-million-member State AFL-CIO at the recommendation of its executive council.

Burns Questions Fish's Finances

KINGSTON John Burns, Democratic candidate for Congress in New York's new 25th Congressional District has charged that the financial reporting statements filed on Sept. 10 in Washington by his Republican Conservative opponent, Hamilton Fish Jr., fails to disclose the actual total resources used in his opponent's campaign.

In response to a question while appearing in Kingston recently, Burns stated, "The Fish reports would indicate that he has spent approximately the same amount of money on his campaign as I have. But Fish does not disclose that, a Congressman from New York's old 28th Congressional District, he sent three mailings into the new 25th Congressional District, which he does not represent, at taxpayer expense. These mailings would have cost at least $45,000. These three free mailings would have cost at least $45,000," Burns said. Burns questioned the propriety of Fish's using his paid staff in Washington, where he now represents New York's 28th Congressional District, to help him campaign in the 25th Congressional District, which he does not represent, and called upon Fish to "disclose the full extent of Fish's taxpayer-paid staff's involvement in Fish's campaign."

Moderate Increase In Wholesale Prices

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Up 0.6 per cent last month, the wholesale prices went up a Labor Department's Bureau of moderate 0.3 per cent in September, mainly because of higher prices for food, gasoline and other fuels, the government said today.

Egg, milk and grain price increases more than offset declines for meat, fruits and vegetables as the price index for farm products and food price increases appeared processed foods and feeds went to bear out administration predictions that the sharp surge in food prices earlier this year would taper off. The report was welcome news for President Nixon, less than five weeks before the November election.

Industrial commodity prices went up only 0.2 per cent, a little less than average for the past two years. About a third of this increase was due to higher prices for fuels, mainly gasoline.

The over-all Wholesale Price Index (WPI) stood at 120.2 in September, which meant that goods, which cost $10 at wholesale in 1967 were priced at $12.02 last month.

This was 5.7 per cent above the previous September. However, the wholesale prices during the first 10 months of Nixon's Phase II economic controls went up 5.7 per cent through the end of September, which was higher than the 5.2 per cent increase in 1971 prior to the government's report on unemployment in September, which was another closely watched economic indicator, was scheduled to be released Friday.

Interest Rates Rising, Economists Still Confident

NEW YORK (AP) — Interest For an answer, one need only per cent interest. The stock market sagged.

The crunch, Gaines said, was a function of a deliberate contraction in money supply engineered by the Federal Reserve Board. "The policy was aimed at stopping inflation. It helped to do that, but it also created a business recession."

Gaines, and many other economists, are convinced that the Fed has "learned its lesson" and would not attempt such a drastic contraction of money supply again.

"The rise in interest rates we're experiencing now," said William Nelson of Moody's Investors Service, "is a natural reflection of increased demand for money in an expanding economy. But it still makes people nervous because they're mortgaging money cost around 10 percent."

Albert Kreisig
Albert Kreisig of 6 St. James Street died at Kingston Hospital Wednesday evening. Born in Germany, he was the son of the late Franz and Hermina Altman Kreisig. He was a resident of Kingston since 1915. He was the founder and operator of the Kingston Transfer Company for many years. Following his retirement from the moving business, he operated the Hofbrau Restaurant at Broadway and St. James Street. He attended Trinity Evangelical Lutheran Church. 'Beer Party' Costs 3 Men In New Paltz

NEW PALTZ, N.Y. — New Paltz village police say it's all right to have a private party, but it's against the law to use someone else's furnishings without permission.

Alan K. Willsey, 20, of East Berne, Frank J. Brown, 23, of Long Meadow, Mass., and Gary A. Day, 22, of Pompton Lakes, N.J., were arrested at 3 a.m. today on the complaint of the owner of the Pat and George Restaurant, 91 Main Street, after allegedly taking a bar stool, three beer mugs, and a pitcher from the establishment.

Patrolmen Charles Davis and Robert Bramley took the trio before Town of New Paltz Justice Rexford Schneider, who reduced petit larceny charges to disorderly conduct and fined them $25 each.

Newburgh Police Arrest Three in Civil Outbreak

NEWBURGH, N.Y. (AP) — Three persons were arrested and three were treated for injuries Wednesday night and early today during a civil disturbance in the downtown section of this Hudson Valley city. Police said bottles, bricks and rocks were thrown.

Police said the arrests were for resisting arrest and interfering with a peace officer. One policeman was X-rayed after being hit in the right arm by a thrown bottle.

Several store fronts were broken. Police said a fire was set at one store, but that little damage was done.

Police denied a report that the fracas followed the roughing up of a youth by two officers who ordered a crowd to break up a drinking session at the corner of Liberty and South Streets.

Acting Police Chief John Oncher said, "It would have been foolish" for two policemen to beat up a man in the presence of 50 or more others. Police used tear gas and cordoned off a four-block section of the city. Seven persons were treated for tear gas inhalation.

Police reported the outbreak occurred after a youth was arrested for disorderly conduct and resisted.

Firemen reported 11 alarms, 12 of them false. Firemen were belted with objects as they went to and from the fire reports. The two fires were termed minor.

Several car windshields were smashed during the disturbance.

WHITA Opposes Ecology Bond; Names Officers

KINGSTON — The Board of Directors of the We've Had It Taxpayers Association of Ulster County (WHITA) elected executive officers at its Wednesday night meeting.

Elected were Mrs. Alice Tipp, president; Michael Antonelli, vice president; Emma Aprea, treasurer; and Audrey Countrymen, secretary.

The board of WHITA stated that it is unanimously opposed to the environmental bond issue which will be on this year's ballot. A detailed position paper will be released before the elections, according to Mrs. Tipp.

"We want to carry the fight for the taxpayer on to higher goals this year," Mrs. Tipp said today.

Guest speaker at Wednesday night's meeting was Joseph Marotana, Independent State Senatorial candidate in the 40th District, who spoke on the cost of education and the methods of funding.

Habits We Cultivate Will Master Us

By MIKE ROTHENBERGER
Staff Representative
Dale Carnegie
and
Assoc., Inc., New York.
Copyright 1965,
Dale Carnegie & Assoc., Inc.

There was the wise old man who lived in a little village. It was said that he knew all the answers: that no one had been able to ask him a question that he could not answer. The little town was located on the side of a hill, and the old man lived at the end of a winding street, up at the top.

The boys of the village were continually trying to think of a question that would fool the old man.

One day, two young fellows were playing under some trees down in the valley, near a brook. They were shaking the branches of a tree when a small bird fell to the ground from a nest above. One of the boys ran over to the bird and picked it up in his hand. The bird was frightened and tried desperately to get away but the boy held it secure. He called to his playmate and said, "At last, I have it." "You have what?" asked his friend. "I have a question that will fool the wise old man up on the hill," he answered. "I don't understand," said the other boy. "Come with me to see the old man," said the lad with the bird, "and I will show you." Together they climbed the hill to the old man's modest house and knocked on the door. The man of wisdom came to the door and asked what they wanted. Proudly, the boy who held the bird stepped forward and stood with his hands at his back. He said, "Wise Old Man, I have a question for you. Tell me, what do I have in my hand behind me?" The old man said, "I would say that you have a bird." "That is right," said the boy, "but now can you tell me, is it alive or is it dead?" The old man stood in utter silence for a few moments and then with piercing eyes, he looked into the face of the arrogant lad and replied, "If I say it is alive, you will close your hand and crush it. If I say it is dead, you will open your hand and let it fly away." The answer is in your hands.

If more of us could see the parallel of this story to our lives — if we could realize that each of us is, in fact, "the master of our fate and the captain of our soul." Surley, man determines his own destiny. We look around us, we see people who are successful and happy, enjoying life. And then, we see those who are despondent and distressed and, for the most part, just existing. We ask ourselves . . . What is it, specifically, that makes one person happy and another miserable? Is it money? No, it can't be . . . because when we begin to study people, when we know, we soon find that some of them have an abundance of material wealth but are most unhappy. Others have a modest or average income and live rich and joyous lives. Money is important, of course, but in itself it will not bring happiness. It will help, if held in proper perspective. The happiest and most successful person, however, is the one who has learned to enjoy life; the one who has learned to appreciate what he has, whether it be a fortune or just an average income, as most of us have. It is the state of our mind that determines our happiness and success. Fortunately, we are endowed with the inalienable right and power to think as we choose. No one can invade the privacy of our minds unless we consent. We can allow the negative to dominate us, with the result that we will be unhappy, morbid and miserable. Or, we can cultivate the positive, by looking for the best . . . by keeping our minds open so that we don't fall into a mental rut. We can read wholesome literature. We can cultivate the friendship and association of positive, success-minded people. We can exercise our minds through the process of continuous learning and thus keep them keen. We can expect the best, and always look, and plan and work for the best. This is the simple difference between success and failure . . . developing habits that are mentally healthy. The great Emerson said, "Cultivate only the habits you are willing should master you." Of this, we can be sure. The habits we cultivate will master us . . . whether they be negative or positive, "the answer is really in our hands."

Bond Dinner Scheduled To Celebrate Israel's 25th

KINGSTON — Israel's 25th Anniversary. Ronder said, "we must make every effort to enlist the unanimous support of our Jewish community in the Israel Bond program. Only in that way will Israel be able to absorb some 60,000 newcomers this year, about half of them from Russia, and raise the standard of living for former immigrants who have not yet been fully taken into the economy."

Propp pointed out that since 1951, Israel Bonds have been the major source of investment capital for Israel's economic growth. He added that bonds provide funds for the development of industry and agriculture, the exploitation of natural resources and the promotion of Israel's export trade. Complete information about Israel Bonds and the Israel 25th Anniversary Dinner can be obtained at the Israel Bond office, 96 Maiden Lane.

Location Is Announced For Pumpkin Sail Festival

KINGSTON The Ulster County Sloop club announced this week the location of the Pumpkin Sail Festival to be held in Kingston on Oct. 25.

After considering several locations along the downtown Kingston waterfront, the sailing crew of the conservative sloop The Clearwater chose the L & M Auto Yard at 222 East Strand Street to be the location for festival. Since the Pumpkin Sail is a revival of the early days of harvest commerce in Rondout, the choice of the autyard for a location will provide an interesting contrast between the past and present of Kingston's riverfront area.

According to the owners of the L & M Auto Yard, they were eager to have the Pumpkin Sail festival originate at the auto yard, because they felt it would emphasize to the community at large the fact that auto yards are actually interested in preserving the ecology, and that by recycling parts of older automobiles they were actually preserving the nation's metal resources. Owners Laury Gersh and Marvin Schildhorn feel that their yard is working to clean up the land, while the Sloop Clearwater is cleaning up the water. Gersh and Schildhorn are planning to clear an area for the festival near the river. During the festival approximately 1,000 pumpkins will be loaded by area volunteers onto the Sloop Clearwater, which is a copy of the sailing sloop used for hauling produce in the early days of Kingston. The pumpkins will then be taken to New York on the Sloop, and sold at the South Street Seaport in another festival on Oct. 27.

At the festival in Kingston Wednesday, Oct. 25, it is expected that such area folk singers as Pete Seeger and Jimmy Collier will be performing during the pumpkin loading. Traditional harvest refreshments will be available.

Campus Guard Opening, Exam Date Set for Nov. 11

KINGSTON One opening for a campus security guard exists at Ulster County Community College and an open competitive examination has been set for Nov. 11 with the last date for filing applications, Oct. 11.

Applications may be obtained by writing the Ulster County Civil Service Commission, UPO Box 172, County Office Building, Kingston.

Candidates must have been legal residents of Ulster County for at least four months immediately preceding the examination date.

Qualifications include graduation from high school and one year of experience as a guard, watchman or law enforcement officer or, and equivalent in training and experience.

The written test will deal with knowledge, skills and/or abilities in areas such as good judgment in situations involving public safety, understanding and interpreting written material and preparing written material.

Explorer Post 36... Activity at Point

The recently chartered Engineering Explorer Post 36 conducted its first field activity recently. Explorer Post Advisor George Karanza explained that the Engineering Post is being supported in its program by the U.S. Army Reserve Engineers of the 85th Battalion through the efforts of Major Frank Willett and his Post Engineering Program was off to a tremendous start.

BRIEFING — Major Frank Willett briefs Explorer Scouts on tactical night problem at West Point.

Pack 10 Recognition

LAKE KATRINE welcomed into the Boy Scouts by Jack McCooley, Assistant Scoutmaster of Troop 14. Ten new Cubs — Eric Barz, David Durling, Jeff Gutridge, Paul Leedecke, Mark Levy, Todd McClurg, Michael Menninger, Jeff Norman, Ross Stoddard, and David Yarter — were initiated into the Pack with a branding ceremony. Awards went to: Larry Schreiber, Richard Clarke, John Rinaldo, Vincent Ciccone, Jay Levy, Donald Short, Mike Sainsbury, Pat Beyea, Donald Kupka, and Ken Stewart, were graduated to Webelos dens.

Pack 10 will hold its next regular meeting Oct. 30 at the Lake Katrine Elementary School at 7 p.m. All boys who live in the Town of Ulster, are at least 8 years old (or are in the third grade), and would like to join the Cubbing program are invited to attend with their parents.

Those recognized were: Mike Harkins, Kirk Jacobs, Matt LaWare, Mike Sainsbury and Frank Spadafora. Harkins, LaWare, and Spadafora were foot long tent that was to be their home for the weekend. Saturday after having chow, Army style, through the chow line of the field kitchen set up the Engineers of "Delta" company, the Explorer Scouts boarded a "Duce and a half," (a truck with a 2 and 1/2 ton capacity) for a tour of West Point including the various ranges and also the Ski Jump, which is a project presently being worked on by the 85th Eng. Battalion for the benefit of the West Point Ski Team.

On Saturday the Scouts were also given a course in instruction on radio communications consisting of transmitter tuning, code and code names and operational procedures. After completing this instruction the Explorers served through the rest of the weekend as Jeep Radio Operators.

Saturday night the Scouts were given the opportunity and accented to participate in the tactical night problem. They were formed into teams of two and were given a set of map co-ordinates and told to try and reach their objectives without being "captured" and to return to the Delta company area. Meanwhile, Charlie company was trying to infiltrate the perimeter defenses of Delta company. Many shots (blanks) were heard through the night and flares were frequently set off to illuminate the area. Needless to say the Explorers enjoyed the experience, including the ones who were "captured."

Sunday the Scouts who had licenses and were familiar with a stick shift were instructed in the operation of a Jeep and a 1/4 Ton Truck, and allowed to operate the vehicles in the field on the camp grounds.

The last activity of the weekend the Scouts were given a short briefing on the operational features of the AM-16 Rifle and allowed to fire on an electronically controlled range which automatically popped up silhouette targets at various ranges.

The Explorers spent the weekend at West Point under the direction of Major Frank Willett, U.S. Army Reserve, 854th Engineer Battalion Commander. Post Advisor Karanza and Major Willett also laid out preliminary plans for the scouts of The Post 36 Engineering Unit for October and November.

Explorers attending the exercise were D. Vigale, P. Van Benschoten, A. DeCelle, P. Wehr, J. Wilsey, R. Karanza, M. Romanowicz, R. Deak, H. Eberhardt, D. Limeri, E. Eberhardt, and D. Kulikowski. Post 36 is sponsored by St. Mary of the Snow in Saugerties.

Dear Abby

BY ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: My husband (I'll call him Louie) pleases me in every way. He's kind and generous, doesn't drink or chase, and he has been a wonderful father to our children. He has always been a good provider. He owns a small construction business and we have a lovely home, two cars, nice clothes and money in the bank. I have never had to work outside the home, and I do his bookkeeping.

My problem is my relatives. They are always making dirty remarks about how "ignorant" Louie is. (Never to his face.) It's true, Louie can sign his name, but that's about all. As a child he was poor, and sickly, and he never made it thru the third grade.

Please tell me what to say to my relatives who never pass up a chance to tell me how "ignorant" my husband is. (P.S. When my college educated brother needed a loan, who do you think gave him the money? My "ignorant" husband.)

SATISFIED WITH LOUIE
DEAR SATISFIED: Try this: "There is a vast difference between an 'ignorant' person and an 'uneducated' one. Louie may be uneducated, but he is far from ignorant. Many educated people are ignorant, and there are many who have had no education to speak of, but are intelligent. If Louie's lack of education offends you, why don't you just leave us alone?"

DEAR ABBY: Is there such a thing as a compulsive talker? If so, my wife leads the parade. She talks incessantly from 8 a.m. until 10 p.m. And then she wonders why she's tired all the time.

Isn't it a fact that talking continuously uses up much energy and makes the talker tired?

STOP THE SANTA ANA WIND

DEAR STOP: In answer to your first question: Yes. There is such a thing as a compulsive talker. And you will usually find them married to people with ulcers, high blood pressure and nervous indigestion. And yes, continuous talking can make one tired.

But not half as tired as those who have to listen to it.

DEAR ABBY: The letter from "stumped" struck a responsive chord in me. I too, knew a church elder and pillar of the community who was in the habit of being "affectionate" with women and young girls.

On his 74th birthday he kept asking me for a "birthday hug." Finally, he pulled me into an empty room in the church and gave me the most obscene hug I had ever experienced. I was only 12, and he was my Sunday school teacher.

Naturally I was shocked, and the guilt and shame of that "birthday hug" haunted me for years. I never even told my mother. I was so ashamed and frightened.

Abby, I've read your column since I was a child growing up in Chicago, and I'm sure young girls today still read your column as I did then. Should this be printed, I hope all adolescent girls who have similar experiences will do themselves a favor and tell some adult they respect and trust. Much self doubts and shameful feelings should be dispelled if they did.

Mrs. Jack Clair to Present Slides and Fashions At Coach House Players Meeting Next Monday

Coach House Players will hold their next regular meeting on Monday, Oct. 9 at 8 p.m. at the Coach House, 12 Augusta Street.

Entertainment co-chairman, Emilia Weyhe, announces that Mrs. Jack Clair, renowned Kingston world traveler, will present a slide and fashion show. Mrs. Clair recently completed a four month trip around the world on a free-Chinese ship. Stops were made in Brazil, Argentina, South Africa, Mozambique, Singapore, Hong Kong, Taiwan, Japan, the Aleutian Islands, Vancouver, San Francisco, Los Angeles, Port of Call, Acapulco, Panama and Fort Lauderdale. Mrs. Clair was fascinated by Taiwan with its dainty landscape, reminiscent of the ancient Chinese paintings. "The beauty," she says, "is unreal." Intriguing, too, was Singapore where men may not enter with long hair.

Along with her exciting story in pictures, Mrs. Clair will bring dresses and robes from Singapore, Swaziland, Senegal, Mozambique, India, Java, Liberia, Hong Kong, Japan and Morocco. These will be modeled by Coach House members and by the world traveler herself.

Coach House has begun rehearsals for its forthcoming production, "Fiddler on the Roof," to be held November 16, 17 and 18 at the J. Watson Bailey School. Men are still needed and are welcome to audition Sunday, Tuesday or Thursday evenings at 7:30 at the Coach House.

Coleman Parents Planning Projects

PARENTS ASSOCIATION of John A. Coleman High School has a full schedule of social and fund-raising activities planned for the current school year. Pictured here discussing

A variety of fund-raising projects and social events are being scheduled by the John A. Coleman Parents Association for the 1972-73 school year.

A rummage sale under the direction of Mrs. Angie Carpato will be held at the Municipal Auditorium on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, Oct. 16-18. On Sunday, Nov. 5, Ignazio Bosco and his committee will serve a spaghetti dinner.

January 27, 1973 has been chosen as the date for the winter dance. Mr. and Mrs. William Weishaupt will serve as chairmen of this popular social event. A special fund-raising project is being arranged by Theodore Dietz, results of which will be announced at the group's April 11, 1973 meeting.

Last year's two-day bazaar proved to be so successful that the Parents Association is now planning a three day festival. Tentative dates are May 18-20, 1973.

A theatre party is scheduled for June. Activities of the school year will be finalized at a family picnic at Linwood the latter party of June.

Throughout the school year, there will be five meetings of the parents-faculty-administration. The dates selected are October 18, November 15, February 7, April 11 and May 16. Through its varied activities, the Parents Association provides a means for every parent to take an active part in supporting the school and the students.

Heading the Association for this year are: Mr. and Mrs. Salvatore Castiglione, presidents; Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Dietz, vice presidents; Mr. and Mrs. Edward Mayone, secretaries; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Rolfe, treasurers.

AAUW Hears GM Side of Pollution Crisis

The New Paltz Branch of the American Association of University Women gathered for its monthly meeting in the Joe Deyo Room of the Inter-County Savings Bank on Tuesday, Sept. 26. Donald B. Borbee, fleet manager at Chevrolet's Tarrytown Zone Office, presented some facts and answered questions about the automobile industry's role in combating environmental problems.

Mr. Borbee showed a film on "Air Pollution" and then pointed out some interesting facts. He noted that air pollution due to automobile emissions reached its peak in 1968 and has been declining steadily since then. According to federal government surveys this decline in auto-related pollutants is occurring in spite of the increasing number of cars on the road.

Two different types of smog were explained, along with their causes, cures, and relationship to automobile emissions.

Mr. Borbee outlined the research and development going on at General Motors. Some 3,000 persons, as well as hundreds of millions of dollars have been committed to such goals as trying to meet the 1975-76 government-imposed emissions control standards, discovering a "balanced mix" transportation system for the future, and a device for keeping a drunk driver from starting his car.

Stroudsburg Holds Off State Booters, 2-1

THWARTED — New Paltz State's Chico Richards (4) crosses one to right wing but the way it's about to be deflected by an alert East Stroudsburg fullback (R) in Wednesday's 2-1 defeat. Trailing the play is Stroudsburg's Rich Mayer (2). The goalie is Bob Rigby. (Freeman photo by Haines)

By IRA FUSFELD

NEW PALTZ

There were less than four minutes to go in East Stroudsburg's 2-1 soccer victory over New Paltz State here Wednesday. The home team was swarming all around the opposition's cage as had been the case most of the afternoon.

Suddenly, one of the Hawks found himself with the ball at point blank range from about 15 yards out. He fired for the upper right hand corner and it smacked squarely on the cross bar. The rebound fell at the foot of New Paltz winger Walter Blair, the Hawk with the hardest shot.

There was no one in front of the net... the Stroudsburg goalie having been pulled out of position by the first shot. Blair pulled the trigger. A sure goal, one which would tie the game? No, for out of the blue came a Stroudsburg fullback who kicked the shot away just as it was about to cross the goal line.

It was that sort of game. New Paltz was to have fired 35 bullets at Stroudsburg's cage before the final buzzer sounded. Only one, Blair's second half rebound on a scramble, went in.

The rest were either stopped brilliantly by visiting goalie Bob Rigby, flew wide or high of the goal, or were intercepted on the way by an alert Stroudsburg fullback.

Sometimes New Paltz never even got off the shot. The Hawks' fancy-footed forwards would get a bit too fancy trying to make that final perfect pass and the play would never be completed.

But the big difference in the game was the mistake column. New Paltz outplayed Stroudsburg in all categories except that one. The Cards, who came into the game ranked 20th in the nation, played steady, if not spectacular, ball.

New Paltz almost matched the effort. But for a two minute span in the first half the Hawks let down. That was enough time for Stroudsburg to notch the only two goals it needed to win.

The first tally came with 19:47 to go in the half when New Paltz' Bobby Cohen accidentally knocked one in his own net after a Stroudsburg cross. The score was credited to Tom Carney.

The other went in with 17:57 left in the half on a fine pass along the goal line from Rich Baldwin to Don Snyder, all alone in front, who poked it past the helpless goalie Benny Alberto.

It was a pretty play, but the man who scored just wasn't covered.

Two mistakes, two goals a two to one loss.

The rest of the Stroudsburg chances, the serious ones anyway, were on clearing breakaways with Alberto repelled nicely.

Most of the game was owned by the Hawks, who were cheered on by a small but vocal crowd, urging their favorites to perform some magic.

The object of most of the crowd's affection was forward Tsegaye Taye, back after a year's layoff, who was particularly adept at getting the ball away from the opposition and finding a free teammate. He did that often Wednesday but the ball never found the net.

Also drawing the attention of the fans were halfback Chico Richards, and forwards Blair, Umaru Konteh, and Danielo Castillio. And deservedly so. They all played well, but to no avail.

New Paltz coach Bob Durkin was understandably disappointed with the defeat. It was his team's first of the season after two wins and a tie and it came against Stroudsburg, his old school.

"I'm heartbroken," the blonde coach, who sported a big piece of white tape on his recently broken nose, said. "I really wanted to beat this club."

"The first one we put in and the second one was a mistake," he continued. "Of course we didn't have Bogart at full strength and that hurt."

"Bogart" is newcomer Soumar Aboubacar, who had been a standout to date, but he was slowed by a leg injury Wednesday.

Before the game ended, Cohen and Angelo Gandolfini joined him on the injured list. Both were knocked heavily on the leg and could miss the Hawks' next game.

Fortunately that next game won't be until October 14 at Fredonia. The wounds should heal by then.

Averages Down?... Blame Nolan Ryan

By United Press International

It was a rather disappointing year statistically for American League batters, but it might have been a lot better if Nolan Ryan had remained in the other league.

Only six batters hit .300 or better in the AL this season with Rod Carew of Minnesota winning his second batting title with a .318 average. Also, no feared right-hander in the American League hit 40 homers or drove in 120 runs and not one player had 190 hits.

Dick Allen of the Chicago White Sox acquired last winter from the National League, captured the home run title with 37 and the RBI crown with 113 even though he was given the final week of the season off by management.

Ryan had a great deal to do with the low hitting totals. Ryan, acquired from the New York Mets by the California Angels last winter in exchange for Jim Fregosi, became this year's Vida Blue and established himself as the most feared right-hander in the league.

Ryan, who was beaten 2-1 by Oakland Wednesday night in quest for victory No. 20, nevertheless finished the game in the majors to hit, Ryan as the fourth greatest strikeout pitcher in major league history. He struck out 10 to boost his big league total to 329 for the season, a record that has been bettered by only Sandy Koufax (382 in 1965), Rube Waddell (349 in 1904) and Bob Feller (348 in 1946).

Ryan also struck out 10 or more batters in a game on 17 occasions this season, equalling the major league record set by Sam McDowell of Cleveland in 1965.

Ryan finished the season with a 1916 record for a team that won only 75 games, and he was easily the most difficult pitcher to hit. Ryan blanked New York 1-0, Kansas City shut out Texas 4-0 and Minnesota routed Chicago 14-2. Cleveland and Baltimore completed their seasons Tuesday.

Marty Pattin tossed a four-hitter for Boston as the Red Sox beat the AL East Division seventh inning, allowing champs. Both teams went with pinch-runner Allen Lewis to rookie lineups with the Tigers having clinched the AL East third Tuesday night by taking the first two games of a three-game set with the Red Sox. The two teams each finished with 70 losses but the difference was the one extra game the Tigers got to play by virtue of the Boston players strike which delayed the start of the season.

Ed Brinkman of the Tigers shut out Texas 4-0 and established a major league record for fewest errors by a shortstop when he finished the season with only seven miscues.

Jim Lonborg allowed only three hits and Johnny Briggs drove in the game's only run with a sacrifice fly in the fourth inning as the Brewers nipped the Yankees.

Roger Nelson hurled a two-hitter to spark Kansas City's victory. It was the final game for managers Ted Williams of Texas and Bob Lemon of Kansas City and also the last game to be played at Municipal Stadium. The Royals are scheduled to move into their new stadium next spring.

Bobby Darwin paced a 19-hit attack with four hits and Denny Monzon scored four runs in the Twins' triumph over the White Sox. The victory enabled the Twins to finish the season at .500 and also greeted the announcement that manager Frank Quilici had been rehired for another year.

Carroll's Save Makes History

By United Press International

Clay Carroll saved the day and made history in the process.

Carroll earned his 37th save Wednesday night—a major league record—while Dave Concepcion doubled and homered to lead Cincinnati to a 4-2 victory over Houston.

Five Redz pitchers—Pedro Borbon, Jack Billingham, Jim McGlothlin, Tom Hall and Clay Carroll—shared the mound duties, scattering seven hits.

The victory went to McGlothlin, who pitched three innings and was nipped for one unearned run. Carroll earned his 37th save with a scoreless ninth inning.

Concepcion homered with one out in the fourth inning to put the Reds on top, 2-1 and a third run scored in the fifth scored on Johnny Bench's sacrifice fly.

The RBI was the 125th of the season—tops in the majors—for Bench.

In other National League games, Philadelphia shaded Chicago 2-1, San Francisco downed San Diego 6-4, Los Angeles stopped Atlanta 4-1, New York defeated Montreal 3-1 and St. Louis edged Pittsburgh 4-3.

Deron Johnson hit a pinch-hit home run in the eighth inning to give the Philadelphia Phillies a season-ending victory over the Chicago Cubs behind the four-hit pitching of Barry Lersch.

Chicago's Billy Williams had a triple in three at bats and won the National League batting title with a .333 average, the first Cub to lead the league since Phil Cavaretta in 1945.

Steve Yeager drove in three runs with a two-run homer and solo homer to help Claude Osteen notch his 20th victory of the season in 31 decisions as the Los Angeles Dodgers defeated Atlanta Braves. The St. Louis Cardinals scored four unearned runs in the fifth inning and went on to beat the Pittsburgh Pirates as Bob Gibson won his 19th in 30 decisions.

Gibson, who singled home the first run in the rally, fanned 11 and eclipsed his own National League record by striking out 200 or more batters for the ninth season. He finished this year with 208 strikeouts.

Jim Beauchamp's two-run homer in the sixth inning featured the Mets' win over the Montreal Expos.

Bobby Bonds' three-run eighth-inning homer lifted San Francisco to victory over the San Diego Padres and extended the Giants season-closing victory string to five games.

Mike Ferraro: .255

KINGSTON was the minor league silver glove winner last year, was third baseman for the Milwaukee Brewers, completed his first full season in the major leagues Wednesday night as his club blanked the Yankees, 1-0, for a sweep of their three-game series.

Ferraro, the first big leaguer from this city since the mid-1920's when Bud Culloton played with Pittsburgh, had a respectable season at the plate and in the field.

Final unofficial statistics show that Mike wound up with a .255 batting average on 97 hits in 381 at bats. He slammed 18 doubles, one triple, two homers, and drove in 29 runs while scoring 19.

At third base, Ferraro, who was the minor league silver glove winner last year, was third baseman for the Milwaukee Brewers, completed his first full season in the major leagues Wednesday night as his club blanked the Yankees, 1-0, for a sweep of their three-game series.

Ferraro came to the Brewers just after the 1971 season and had to fight for a spot on the 25-man roster during spring training. He gradually worked his way into the starting lineup and held his job until he slumped in June.

He was inserted back in the lineup after the all-star game and raised his average from .228 to the .255 at which he finished.

Mike will be working for the City Parks and Recreation Commission this winter. His wife, Pam, is expecting their second child any moment.

The Newburgh Game...KHS Breather?

By IRA FUSFELD

KINGSTON You won't find anyone in Kingston High School who wants less than a victory in Saturday's football game at Newburgh Free Academy. After all, the Maroons have dropped two straight and it is Newburgh, their traditional rivals.

But the 1972 Kingston-Newburgh game is not the most important contest on KHS' schedule...and did you ever think you'd hear that statement?

This is the season Kingston all but broke the cord with Newburgh when it entered the Dutchess County Scholastic League. The league's the thing now and the Newburgh game is merely the ninth game on the schedule. Fortunately, that ninth game comes during the third week...just when Kingston could use it as a breather from the rather shocking way it has been treated by the DCSL.

"Don't get me wrong," says KHS coach Tony Badalato. "I want to win this game and we're going to go all out...but the game gives us a break from the league and I expect to try a few things differently."

The reasoning is sound. Kingston is not yet out of the DCSL pennant picture, even with two defeats. A loss to Newburgh would mean nothing as far as the race is concerned. But a bit of experimenting might just determine what was lacking in the losses to Saugerties and Beacon.

"I do believe we're improving," contends Badalato. "Against Beacon, we did everything right but score. We're improved 100 per cent on offense and our defense is playing very well."

The offensive backfield, which Badalato indicated would be a sore spot, is in for more revision. Walt Houghtaling and Bob Marz will remain as will Tim Pillsworth, the lineman converted to fullback who was shaky in his first start. New say. They've been going out of the wishbone and not throwing much, but the way things are going they'll probably complete 100 passes against us."

NFA coach Rip Fornal says Kingston doesn't have to worry about that. "We threw a little at Vestal last week, but only out of frustration. We just haven't been putting the ball in the air. We go with the triple option offense because we feel it's best suited to our personnel. Last week we gained over 200 yards on the ground."

Over 200 yards on the ground against powerful Vestal and they lost 35-0!

"We have a poorer squad than last year's," claims Fornal. "We really are weak in all departments, mainly because we're inexperienced. We are carrying 30 players who have never played before."

But on that team are two runners who were very much in evidence last season when Newburgh beat a strong KHS club, 26-6: Jim Reyle, who scored two TD's, and Dave Kahn, who also made his presence felt.

The belief is that Newburgh is ready to explode after having been held to eight points in two games. That's a feeling that Fornal doesn't necessarily share.

Fornal also isn't that excited by his defense. Discounting Vestal, "They could have Poughkeepsie (1-0). The former string in," Fornal says the Middletown shutout in the opener was a case of his defense "just happening to next to try and sidetrack Beacon (2-0) before the Bulldogs really get rolling. So far, both Arlington coach Frank King and Badalato are not that high on Beacon even though they played two games with the Goldbacks last winter and Maroons won both.

Kingston plays NFA only once in football. One win would be enough.

Saturday's key DCSL game (1-1) visits John Jay (0-1).

The Lark Is Over for Southern California

by United Press International

It's all been a lark for Southern California so far, but that's about to change, beginning this Saturday.

The top-ranked Trojans, who have crushed four straight opponents, get into the nitty-gritty of the Pacific Eight Conference race Saturday when they meet Stanford on the Cardinals' home field. Southern Cal has played one conference game so far but that was against undermanned Oregon State. In the next three weeks the Trojans face Stanford and Washington, two teams which could give them a tussle for the league title.

Stanford will be playing its first conference game Saturday and its past history is any yardstick, then the Cardinals should be plenty ready for this one. In the past Stanford has given its all to conference games while taking non-conference opponents lightly. Under new coach Jack Christensen the Cardinals' formula hasn't changed that much. They have beaten their first three opponents—all non-conference foes—but were erratic in all three contests.

At any rate, we like the Cardinals to give the Trojans a stern battle with Southern Cal's depth providing a narrow margin of victory.

Among the top-five ranked teams, second-ranked Oklahoma and fifth-ranked Nebraska both have a bye this week. Third-ranked Alabama and fourth-ranked Ohio State both take to the road, but neither should have any trouble adding to their victory total.

Our regional predictors this week are Fred McMane of New York (the East), David Moffit of Atlanta (the South), Ed Sainsbury of Chicago (the Midwest), Charlie Smith of Kansas City (the Midlands), Tracy Ringolsby of Denver (the Rockies), Mike Rabun of Dallas (the Southwest) and Joe Sargis of San Francisco (the Far West).

UCAL Offers Variety of Games Saturday

By STEVE KANE

KINGSTON

A crucial contest, a pick 'em battle of question marks, and a couple of possible slaughters mark the UCAL's fourth weekend of football. Pieces of first place are all over the terrain as the schedule sends Roundout to Marlboro, Red Hook to New Paltz, Pine Bush to Liberty, Highland to Ontario, and Ellenville to Wallkill.

Marlboro's unbeaten, lucky turned out to be a lot longer on talent. With capable quarterback Charlie Jones directing the show, Marlboro has risen to the No. 2 position in total yards and points scored while leading the league in first downs with 53.

For several reasons, it's unlikely this pace can be continued against the Ganders. Irreplaceable performers John Bunt and George Casey are out for the season with injuries. Top lineman John Giametta is a doubtful starter Saturday. And Marlboro has never come up against a defense like the Ganders'. It also seems Mickey Million's forces may have gained a measure of confidence they lacked in their first three outings. Tying Highland was a disappointment for Roundout. Fortunately for Ganders fans the next opponent was New Paltz—any other team may have bumped RVC out of the picture for good. Without strong opposition, Roundout stumbled to a 6-0 win, unscathed in their dangerous doldrums, and came back to play the defensive game of their lives against Liberty. Defense is totally a team affair, not something that falls apart easily. Roundout's stoppers are very good, and very big, and insure at the very least a close game. For a share of first, Roundout is hunting for ways to put points on the board. For all of first, Marlboro is hoping they don't find them. The Pine Bush-Liberty tilt is as unpredictable as they come. The Indians continue to mystify with their winless record while the Bushmen just seem contently gleeful with one win at a time. Steady and un-spectacular, Pine Bush has won two of its three starts. If this isn't Liberty's week yet, the Bushmen will bore them into defeat.

Lopsided scores are unusual in the UCAL, this year more than ever. If there ever was a setting for one, however, it's in New Paltz. Red Hook shoots for its third win here, and the normal diagnosis would be to expect a letdown from the Raiders as they go up against the league's weakest club. Don't bet on it. John Neilson has had his fill of scares for this season, so look for the Raiders to be priming their multi-talented attack for the tough end of the schedule. Another Army-Nebraska maybe?

Steve Tennenbaum and the gnats from Ellenville bring their wares to Wallkill, a visit Jerry Trezza of the Panthers would rather do without. His offense has trouble enough without running into the league's second best defense, and just how the Panthers plan to stop Tennenbaum when they haven't stopped anyone yet this year has got to be seen.

ROUGHKEEPSIE

Kingston High is still atop the DCSL soccer standings, but Wednesday it took a comeback effort to earn a tie with host Oakwood and stay unbeaten after six games.

Fighting off first period raggedness, the Maroons rallied behind two Johnny Robinson goals to stymie the Quakers at 2-2.

Coach John Hunter stated: "After the first period we dominated the game. We had the ball down in their territory almost all the time, but we just couldn't put it in. And they had one fantastic goalie in Brian Sibley."

Sibley recorded 19 saves in the contest while holding up to Kingston's heavy pressure. Robinson broke the ice with Kingston trailing after Oakwood's first period scores with a quick boot from short range. Phil Bosch had his shot blocked by Sibley, but Robinson caught the rebound on his chest and slipped the kick by to cut the lead to one.

Robinson tied the game at 4:45 of the fourth period with a penalty kick.

Oakwood's superior size intimidated the Maroon attack in the early stages. "They had a 6-4 center and a couple of 6-2 fullbacks," said Hunter. "We barely have one man that stands six feet, and that size was a factor."

Fred Koltzay's penalty shot at the 4:00 mark got Oakwood started, and an unassisted goal by Vic Tabatabaj four minutes later on a breakaway gave the home team its surprising lead.

The notions of upset were also a factor, according to Hunter. "It's hard to get a first-place team up for a game with a club that's down in the standings. And of course everyone wants to knock us off because we're leading the pack." But the Maroon coach wasn't making excuses: We should have won, without a doubt. We'll just have to work on it."

Ian Horowitz and Charlie Barton, two prime reasons for Kingston's success thus far this season, turned in another sterling performance, this time with lots of defensive support from Jerry Murphy and Steve Kantor. The Kingston backfield permitted Oakwood only five shots-on-goal throughout the game.

Around the league, Poughkeepsie kept pace with its fifth win against one loss, knocking off John Jay 4-0. Arlington continued its surge back into the thick of the race with a 3-0 shutout of previously unbeaten Rhinebeck. The Admirals are now 4-2 while the Indians slipped to 4-1.

In other games, Wetbutuk notched its second win with a 3-3 triumph over Spackneckkill, and the Saugerties Ketcham tilt was postponed until today due to testing at the Wappingers school.

Rodgers First Round Leader

INZAIMACHI, Japan (UPI)—Phil Rodgers today fired a five-under-par 66 for a one-stroke lead in world's richest golf tournament, the $300,000 Taiheiyo Club Masters over a field of 84 top golfers from eight countries.

Rodgers shot a four-under-par

31 on the front nine and a one-under-par 35 on the back nine of the 7,166 yard par-71 Sobu Country Club course here. First prize money is $65,000 with second valued at $32,500 and third $20,000.

Gay Brewer and Al Geiberger of the United States, and David for second place with four-under-par 67s.

Grouped in three-under-par 68s were George Archer and Kermit Zarley of the United States, Graham Marsh of Australia, Shieh Min-Nam of Taiwan, a resident Taiwanese, and Masashi Ozaki and Takaaki Kono of Japan.

Pre-tournament favorite Lee Trevino, who arrived late Wednesday night after an 18 hour plane flight and played golf today in Japan for the first time in 15 years, shot a two-under-par 37 on the front side but birdied the 13th and 14th holes for a two-under-par 34 on the back nine for an even par 71.

"I didn't know where to place my drives, today," Trevino said. "I also didn't know the speed of the greens. Now that I've played one round I feel I could improve my score by four or five strokes, perhaps even more tomorrow."

Also at 71 were Orville Moody, Homero Blancas, Dan Sikes, Johnny Miller, Lou Graham, Bud Allin and Bob Shaw of the United States.

Rozelle Views With Alarm Prospects of No-Blackout

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Predicting potential financial disaster, spokesmen for professional football, basketball and hockey Wednesday denounced proposed legislation to end league-imposed local television blackouts of home games.

"Human nature is such that when people get accustomed to having something free they are not likely to be enthusiastic about paying for it on other occasions," said National Football League Commissioner Pete Rozelle.

"To act now... because of the understandable public desire to get something for nothing would be a serious miscarriage of justice," echoed Commissioner of Baseball, Peter U. Kennedy of the National Baseball Association.

"Based on our actual experience to date, even in some of the strongest hockey cities there is the very real risk of loss of gate receipts when the public knows the game will be shown on television," added Don V. Ruck, vice president of the National Hockey League.

The NFL, NBA and NHL officials were the prime witnesses as a Senate communications subcommittee continued hearings on various anti-blackout bills—primarily one that would permit local telecasts of contests that are sell-outs 48 hours before game time.

The Nixon administration supports the idea but is not backing any particular bill. It was expected that baseball

John Penning captured the Sportsman feature for his first victory ever at Accord Speedway. Bobby Breuckner was a close second, with Gordon Aldrich, Pete Keator and Jimmy Glass trailing in that order.

Aldrich and Breuckner were heat winners and Roger Ter-bush won the consolation. Jerry Quick Jr. won the sedan feature. The runnersup were Bill Martin Jr., Jackie Brown, Art Tyler and Jim Craig.

Ronnie Brown and Jerry Quick took the heats. The novice feature went to Dunne Mickle, with Gary Ronk second and Junior Stockweather, third. Heats were won by Ronk and Mickle. Ray O'Donnell of Mahwah, N.J. won the demolition derby. Demolition derby for girls is part of Saturday night's program.

Resnick $3.3 Million Debt: Creditors to Receive 30 PC

By LYNN MULVANEY

KINGSTON — At least 60 creditors of the late Congressman Joseph Y. Resnick, whose unpaid claims total $3.3 million will now receive about 30 per cent of the money owed them.

Ulster County Surrogate Arthur A. Davis has signed a decree directing the estate's executors, Harry Resnick, Louis Berger and Peter Messina to make payment of $1,113,482, some of which is interest and some of which is principal.

Among the creditors to be paid are the Ellenville National Bank which is owed $109,411 and will receive $36,708 and the First National Bank of Ellenville which is owed $113,147 and is scheduled to receive $38,303.

The signing of the decree ordering partial payment for

Fall Festival in Kingston

KINGSTON — The traditional annual Fall Festival will live the streets of the Old Stockade area on Saturday, Oct. 14, when a variety of outstanding events geared to the historic, cultural and commercial will be presented starting at 10 a.m. and completing at 4 p.m.

Sponsored by the Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce, the Uptown Businessmen's Association, and the Friends of Historic Kingston, the festival is being put into action by Mrs. Alan L. Hanstein, coordinator; James Thompson, Chamber of Commerce; Glenn Stampfle, and Stuart Randall, Uptown Businessmen's Association, and E. Robert Johnson, Friends of Historic Kingston.

The committee has planned events that include several, historically and architecturally noted stockade area structures; the music of the Kingston High School Band and the Kingston Indians. A special architectural film will be shown and an art show involving the work of local artists will be presented. A wide range of exceptional exhibits of crafts, artifacts, river boat photographs, slides and Petrus Stuyvesant of colonial New Netherlands (New York). The film is one developed by Dr. Charles A. Galyon of Kingston.

During the day the sounds of brass and drums will reach the ears of all stockade area festival guests. During the noon period, en route to the Dietz Stadium football game, the noted Kingston Schools Consolidated Band will present a special interval of Band Music at the head of Wall Street. Again at 3:30 the celebrated Kingston Indians led by Ralph Shapiro, will provide their remarkable music entertainment as a finale for the day-long Kingston Fall Festival event.

Portions of the principle streets will be lined with special side-walk sales displays provided by stockade area merchants. There will be at least one side-walk cafe serving Festival guests. Ulster County apples will be available, and Friends of Historic Kingston hostesses will be serving cider, donuts and cookies. Further information on all of these events will be released in the near future.

Of special interest will be several of the festival's audio-visual events in film and music.

The Friends of Historic Kingston will present an unusual locally developed film concerned with an archaeological-historical aspect of Old Kingston. Showings will be at 11 a.m. and 3 p.m. in Bethany Hall of Old Dutch Church. The film presents a review of the search for the old bounds of Kingston's original old stockade erected at the direction and under the supervision of director-general

Businessmen Set Plans

KINGSTON — Plans for next weekend's Fall Festival, and Christmas holiday activities, were discussed at Wednesday's meeting of the Uptown Businessmen's Association.

President Glen Stampfle noted that the association will lend its support to Fall Festival planned by Friends of Historic Kingston.

The day will include walking tours through the uptown area, musical entertainment by the Kingston High School marching band and the Kingston Indians Drum and Bugle Corps, arts and crafts exhibits and refreshments. Uptown businessmen will hold a sidewalk sale that day in conjunction with the activities.

In other business, Stampfle said that "park and shop" signs are now available for uptown storefronts, indicating to shoppers where they can have their city and county parking lot tickets validated.

Preliminary plans were also discussed for lighting the uptown area during the Christmas holidays.

The businessmen also commended the Laurel Garden Club for maintaining the garden and shrubbery in front of the city's parking garage. "The women have done an outstanding job," said Stampfle, "they deserve a lot of credit for the work they've done."

Concert Set In New Paltz

NEW PALTZ — A benefit concert featuring barbershop harmonies, folk rock, popular melodies, and old-time gospel hymns will be presented Saturday at 8 p.m. in the New Paltz High School Auditorium.

Performing will be the "Sweet Adelines" of Dutchess County, and "The Collarmen" of Mount St. Alphonsus Seminary in Esopus.

Proceeds of the "Evening of Song" will go to the New Paltz Chapter of the American Field Service to send high school students abroad for study, and to bring high school students from foreign countries to New Paltz.

Tickets for the concert will be available at the door and can also be purchased at several New Paltz business places.

The student scholarship program was instituted in New Paltz two years ago, and a Swedish student, Miss Karin Lisspers, is attending New Paltz High School as a senior this year. This past summer, Ann Baker, also a senior at New Paltz, spent two months in South America under the sponsorship of the local AFS chapter.

Five Arrested In Vice Raid At Club 209

HUGUENOT, N.Y. (UPI) — State police raided a roadside bar and grill in this Orange County community Wednesday night and arrested five persons on prostitution charges.

State police said the Club 209, on Route 209, featured strippers in its main entertainment room and prostitutes in other rooms.

The owners of the club, Clyde Corwin, 44, and his wife, Gladys, 42, were charged with promoting prostitution, permitting prostitution, and maintaining disorderly premises, police said.

Estate Belueh, 51, and Yolanda Strumstead, 23, both of New York City, were charged with prostitution and public lewdness.

Police said the club's clientele consisted of both local residents and travelers along Route 209.

Probe Arson In Brooklyn; 26 Injuries

NEW YORK (AP) — Fire marshals and police today pressed an arson investigation in the wake of Wednesday's explosion and fire in an abandoned Brooklyn factory that injured 26 persons.

Fire Commissioner Robert O. Lowery said one lead the marshals were pursuing was a report that a man had been seen leaving the building shortly before the 6 a.m. blast.

Deputy Asst. Chief Allen Hay said there were "strong indications of arson" in the blaze on Myrtle Avenue in the Bedford-Stuyvesant section.

Fire officials said there had been a suspicious fire in the building a week earlier that was put out quickly. Marshals found that that blaze had spread along trails of flammable materials.

The explosion Wednesday wrecked the three story building, and an adjacent tenement. Two other buildings were damaged by fire and more than 150 persons were left homeless.

BIG MOMMA — This St. Bernard-Collie is looking for a home with some good family that will provide it with care and love. Her name is "Big Momma" according to an employee at the Ulster County SPCA, where the one-year-old is waiting for some area resident to adopt her. She is housebroken, has had all the shots necessary and the SPCA says Big Momma loves kids. The dog is at the society's shelter on Brabant Road, Town of Ulster. If you would like to adopt this dog for a pet, contact the SPCA and make arrangements.

His biggest problem is alcoholism.

Billy's father is an alcoholic.

Liquor and jobs are two things he's never been able to hold. He quit drinking twice last month. And twice the month before. Maybe someday he'll straighten out. Maybe. In the meantime, his family will always come last.

The United Way provides many community agencies that can help Billy and his family. The innocent victims of alcoholism are among the people in our town who need your help. Poor people, sick people, disturbed people, old people are counting on you.

Give the United Way. Please.

Jean Adams' TEEN FORUM

JUST TOMMY: (Q) Tommy broke up with me a month ago. I didn't want to, but he said he had a new girl friend. We had been going together eight months. We agreed to be friends.

I can't be just friends with Tommy. I want to hold his hand or kiss him. I've been going out with other boys. I don't want to kiss them. I want to kiss Tommy. Not a one of them has called back, and I don't blame them.

What can I do? I'm miserable.—Linda in Louisiana.

(A) You are acting like too many ex-steadies—both boys and girls—do. You are concentrating on Tommy, not on the boy you are out with. That ruins your fun and his, too.

It was a month when you wrote. It is longer now. The more time passes, the more you will be able to look at Tommy as just a friend and the more fun you will have going out with other boys.

NOT A NIECE: (Q) A month ago my sister asked me to let her dress me up like a girl. She showed my mother and she said I should have been a girl. Later my mother had me dress up for a friend of hers. She told the friend I was her niece and the friend believed her.

After that my mother bought me panties, pantyhose, a dress, shoes and makeup. She takes me places and tells people I am her niece. She thinks I like it and doesn't believe anything I say about not liking it. I am 15.—Forced to Be a Girl in Virginia

(A) You are not only not a niece, but what your mother is doing to you is not at all nice. Talk to your father about it. Tell him you don't like it. If he won't help you, talk to your counselor at school, or your minister, and ask them to help you.

Railroad Workers Get Pension Hikes

WASHINGTON (AP) — With would hasten the bankruptcy of the railroad retirement system. Congress has overridden President Nixon's veto and granted 900,000 retired railroad workers a temporary 20-per-cent increase in pension payments.

Nixon vetoed the bill at noon Wednesday; by midafternoon, the House had voted 353 to 29 to override the veto, and a few hours later, the Senate voted 78 to 5 to override.

In both cases, the margin was far larger than the two-thirds majority required to upset the veto. The action means that the bill has become law.

The President said in his veto message that the pension hike

During the Senate debate, some senators agreed with Nixon that the railroad fund is in shaky financial shape and said Congress next year must find some way to make it solvent.

However, Sen. Alan Cranston, D-Calif., argued that with the Social Security increase already in effect, "equity required that we give a commensurate increase to railroad retirees."

The increase for railroad workers is effective only until next June 30, and Cranston said that to make the higher pensions permanent Congress must provide new financing.

Veto Challenge Sent

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Congress has sent President Nixon another veto challenge—this time in the form of a $24.6 billion clean water bill he already has said the nation can't afford.

The most costly and stringent water pollution bill ever passed by Congress was sent to the White House late Wednesday on the 366-11 vote of the House and the 74-0 approval of the Senate.

During the same long working day, Congress overrode Nixon's veto of a 20 per cent pension increase for railroad workers. The President rejected the measure on grounds it was inflationary, but within five hours Congress mustered the necessary two-thirds vote in both houses to pass the legislation over the veto and make it law. The House vote was 353-29 and the Senate tally 78-5.

Nixon said the railroad retirement bill would "deepen the presently projected deficits." He has asked Congress to give him authority to hold federal expenditures during the current fiscal year to $250 billion, contending the step is necessary to prevent further inflation. A showdown in Congress on that proposal has been postponed until next week.

As a beginning, the bill authorizes nearly $25 billion over the next three years, including $18 billion for direct grants to the states to underwrite 75 per cent of the cost of building waste treatment projects.

Nixon has proposed a three-year, $6 billion clean water bill and reportedly has threatened to veto any measure that would spend more. The bill's chief architect, Sen. Edmund S. Muskie, D-Maine, taunted the President to try it.

Muskie said Nixon might choose to veto the bill "on the basis of the stringent regulations it would impose on industrial polluters" or to give it a pocket veto by not acting

Senate Nears Welfare Decision

WASHINGTON (AP) — After shelving the key question of welfare reform for as long as eight years, the Senate is moving toward a final decision on the massive Social Security welfare bill.

Sen. Russell B. Long, D-La., manager of the 969-page measure, said the Senate is over the hump on the bill and may be able to pass it tonight. But he said it is more likely the final vote will come Friday.

The fight over the most heavily contested part of the bill was settled Wednesday with a decision not to put any of three rival welfare-reform plans into effect but to provide for tests of all them.

This could mean that no effective reform will take place for as much as eight years, if, as expected the House goes along with the test idea.

Meanwhile, the costly and rapidly expanding program of aid to families with dependent children will continue pretty much as at present.

The AFDC rolls have tripled in the past 10 years, and it is this program that most often is cited by critics of "the welfare mess."

In voting 46 to 40 for the amendment by Sen. William V. Roth Jr., R-Del., to test the three plans, the Senate junked the welfare program which evolved from many months of work in the Senate Finance Committee.

This would have required many of the parents now on the AFDC rolls, mostly mothers, to trade their welfare checks for jobs under a new federal agency.

However, the Senate in a long series of votes retained some peripheral provisions dealing with welfare families in the Finance Committee bill.

They would set up a big new day-care program to make it possible for more welfare mothers to go to work; provide work bonuses and wage supplements to try to induce welfare recipients to take jobs and employers to hire them; and create broad authority for prosecutors to try to find runaway fathers and make them support their families.

Released POW Backs Government

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — Issues concerning the Vietnam war and prisoners of war are "in the best hands" when they are dealt with by the U.S. government, says a newly freed POW.

Maj. Edward Elias, one of the three POWs released by North Vietnam, said Wednesday that matters involving war and captive servicemen should be handled "government to government and not between a diverse bunch of individuals."

Elias spoke at a news conference at Maxwell Air Force Base where he is undergoing medical checks after being brought home last week by a group of antiwar activists. He was captured after his plane was shot down last April 20.

But Elias, 34, said "These issues about the war, and about the prisoners of war, are now in the best hands that they could possibly be in. And that

Brezhnev Slates United States Visit

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Soviet Communist party chief Leonid I. Brezhnev will make an official visit to Washington next spring, diplomatic sources said Brezhnev.

They said that this was agreed on during meetings at the White House and at Camp David Monday between President Nixon and Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko.

The Soviet leader probably will come here in April but the sources declined to pinpoint the exact time.

During his historic visit to Moscow last May, Nixon extended an invitation to Brezhnev. Soviet President Nikolai V. Podgorny and Premier Alexei I. Kosygin came to the United States.

The invitation was announced at the time, Nixon's close adviser, Henry A. Kissinger, told newsmen in Moscow then that the visit would not take place until after the U.S. presidential election Nov. 7.

Soviet officials said then that all three men could not make the trip but indicated Brezhnev, who has emerged over the past year as the dominant member of the trio, probably would be the one to make the pilgrimage to America.

Since that time it had been generally speculated that the visit would take place some time early in 1973, assuming Nixon's re-election.

Diplomats said during their talks, Nixon and Gromyko nailed down plans for the visit although details are yet to be worked out.

They said that an official announcement of the visit would most likely be withheld until after the election.

The Russians, on the basis of diplomatic protocol, would not ordinarily announce a specific plan for a visit of this type in advance of a forthcoming U.S. presidential election.

If Sen. George S. McGovern, contrary to indications of current polls, should beat Nixon, it would be necessary for him to extend a new invitation to the Russians.

It is assumed that should he win, McGovern would want to re-extend an invitation but it would be necessary to go through the proper protocol.

Brezhnev is one of the least traveled of Moscow leaders outside the Soviet bloc. His only previous international visit was a trip to Paris last fall.

Kosygin was in the United States in June, 1967, to attend the United Nations General Assembly and while in the country, he held two meetings with President Lyndon B. Johnson at Glassboro, N.J.

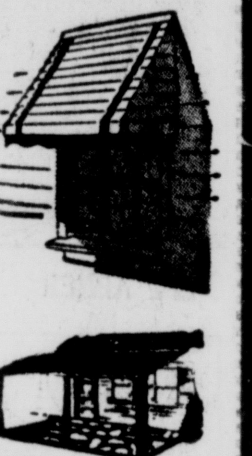

Johnson subsequently arranged to visit Moscow during the fall of 1968, where he began negotiations with the Russians on the limitation and nuclear arms. However, in August, 1968, just before the White House had planned to disclose that Johnson visit, the President canceled the trip because of the Soviet invasion of Czechoslovakia.
